A PSYCHOGRAM OF BARACK HUSSEIN OBAMA THE LAUGHING, MANIC NARCISSUS

INTRODUCTION

In order to understand what a psychogram is, you do not have to be a psychiatrist; you do not have to be a psychologist. All you have to do to make a viable, written psychological representation – a psychogram, if you will – of Barack Hussein Obama, is to be an attentive observer, read between the lines of what he says and how he behaves, make a logical interpretation thereof, and use the knowledge thus gained. The available information is explosive!

A psychogram[1] can be understood as a psychological road map of a person's character. Such a psychological representation contains the person's personality trait(s) that are based upon a psychological view of the person in question. This kind of profile attempts to define the complete personality of the person because it identifies a variety of various factors that when placed together, allow the reader to comprehend the person in question.

The singular conclusion of this psychogram is that Barack Hussein Obama is a narcissist. Such a personality closely coincides with the personality traits of a psychopath. Narcissists can be spontaneous, yet, more than not, they will wait for the right moment. A narcissist is ego-centric and has a cold, emotional world. A narcissist's ego replaces any spiritual development. A narcissist knows how to attain his goals without always showing his narcissism. A narcissist is a social climber. He brags excessively of his self-image. He becomes powerful via social, political, and criminal achievements.

THE SITUATION

On 25 October 2010, NewsFlavor posted an article the contents of which were an interview with an unnamed White House insider.[2] The insider source reported the following about Barack Hussein Obama:

"Not long ago, the President took a meeting. He's late, which apparently is becoming more and more common with him. The meeting was almost cancelled. In strolls the President, joking with an aide. He plops down on a sofa, leans over and claps another guy on the back asking how he's been. Apologizes for being late, says he was "held up". He laughs some more. The meeting begins. After just ten minutes, during which time the President appears to almost totally withdraw into himself, an aide walks in and whispers something to the President, who then nods and quickly stands up, shakes a few hands and tells another aide to update him later on the rest of the meeting. As the President is walking out he is laughing at something yet again. He asked no questions of those at the meeting – not one. He left after just ten minutes, coming in laughing and leaving laughing. His behavior during that brief time he was there was described as 'borderline manic' ".

We all have nothing against humor. However, when the humorous person – in more ways than one – is the putative President of the United States of America[3] and the occasion, as NewsFlavor indicates, is at a high-level meeting of policy makers, advisors, and military officers who have a vested interest in the lives of male and female soldiers in combat areas, there is no excuse for such behavior, unless, as the final statement says, the putative President is not "borderline manic" but realistically manic. In this case, Barack Hussein Obama does not have a variety of various personality factors that allow a comprehensive picture of his character. He has at the most one or two composite in one description: a mania of the ego.

BACKGROUND

In order to understand the ramifications of the mania-ego character that is Barack Hussein Obama, it is necessary to present the etymology of the relative, important terms.

MANIA

The Indo-European word root for mania is men<sup>-1</sup>, from the zero-grade form **mn-* the original meaning of which is a state of mind and thought. The word mania comes from Latin (mania, meaning insanity) via the Greek μανία, meaning frenzy madness, and thus from the verb μαίνομαι (mainomai), meaning to be furious, to be mad, to rage. In modern English it has come to mean to be in a craze about something or someone, even one's self. [4]

The term mania first appeared in the English language in Geoffrey Chaucer's Canterbury Tales where it meant mental derangement. Manic means having a mania, a certain psychiatric distress that is a condition of being abnormal. This shows up in the person showing moody behavior, being irritable, aroused, and showing off unusual levels of body and emotional energy. The person's character behavior is that of a junkie who is highly intoxicated because he needs the trip to counter the possibility of becoming depressive. [5]

Mania is the opposite of depression and is often associated with bipolar disorder. This is the existence of abnormal energy levels in Barack Hussein Obama that may cause him to be spaced-away from the actuality of the moment. In fact, Barack Hussein Obama may not even (want to) realize that he is manic because this would indicate that he should be committed to, or commit himself to psychiatric treatment.

Barack Hussein Obama is possessed with delusions of grandeur to the degree that he is so self-absorbed that the responsibilities of being the President of the United States of America take a back seat to his own being. To be out of touch with reality and obsessed with the self is to say that a person, in this instance Barack Hussein Obama, is a mega-egomaniac. Indeed, Barack Hussein Obama may be many things, but above all, he is a manic narcissist.

NARCISSISM

The term narcissism has its origins in Greek Mythology. We can summarize the mythology as follows: Hera, the goddess of love and marriage, punished the nymph Echo, the goddess of distraction, non-stop jabbering, and misdirection, with the curse that Echo could not start a conversation and would always be the last to speak in a conversation. One day Echo saw a handsome Greek boy walking through the forest. Echo wanted to talk to him. However, because of the curse, Echo was not able to speak first. The young Greek was thirsty and stopped at a pool of water to refresh himself. As he bowed down to the water to take a drink the boy saw his reflection for the first time in his life. He did not know and understand what he was seeing and was overpowered with the beauty and perfection of the (his own) visage. He fell in love and started talking to the reflection. Echo, who had been following him began to repeat the last words that the boy spoke. Because he did not understand reflections, the handsome Greek boy thought that his reflection was talking to him. He became more enamored with what he was looking at (himself) and desired to consummate his love. Of course, he was unable to fulfill his desire and he languished at the pool and eventually transformed into the flower that bears his name: Narcissus.[6]

The word narcissus has an etymology that originates with the Greek word nárkē (νάρκη), meaning spasm, paralyzation, stiffness, and numbness because the flower narcissus (nárkissos, Νάρκισσος ) spreads a beguiling fragrance and can have the effect that a person falls into a sleepy condition. Narcissism can be defined as a personality trait that shows conceitedness, vainness, egoism, and selfishness that is so great that there is a show of indifference to the plight of others. Generally speaking, it is not readily recognized by the public.

HISTORY

A singular, isolated use of the term narcissism is found in a letter written by the English poet and literary critic Samuel Taylor Coleridge (1772-1834), and dated January 15, 1822. We can trace the appearance of the term narcissism in scientific publications. In 1898, the English sexologist Havelock Ellis (1859-1939) used the term narcissus-like to refer to people who become their own sex object in the process of masturbation. In 1899, the Russian-born Paul Näcke (1851-1913) used the term narcissism in his study of sexual perversions. In 1911 narcissism was linked to self-admiration and vanity in a paper on psychoanalysis by the Austrian psychoanalyst Otto Rank (1884-1939). Another Austrian, Sigmund Freud (1856-1939), the founder of psychoanalysis, published his On

Narcissism, An Introduction. The Austrian-Jewish religious philosopher Martin Buber (1878-1965), in 1923, wrote an essay Ich und Du, wherein Buber points out that the narcissist relates to other people not as equals, but as objects.[7]

PRESENT APPLICATION

In modern times the psychological deficiency generally known as narcissism is referred to with the clinical terminology Narcissistic Personality Disorder (NPD). The NPD disorder identifies itself basically in a dialectical presentation as a desire for grandiosity and extreme admiration on the one hand, and a lack of empathy, and possibly love for others on the other hand. According to the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, which is the diagnostic classification system used in the United States of America, to be diagnosed as an NPD, the person must exhibit at least five of the following characteristics:[8]

1. has a grandiose sense of self-importance
2. is preoccupied with fantasies of unlimited success, power, brilliance, beauty, or ideal love
3. believes that he or she is special and unique
4. requires excessive admiration
5. has a sense of entitlement
6. is interpersonally exploitative
7. lacks empathy
8. is often envious of others or believes others are envious of him
9. shows arrogant, haughty behaviors or attitudes
10. tends to have a schizoid personality disorder

The activation of the above will always affect personal relationships in a negative manner. When the person is the President of the United States of America, these actions will have horrendous short-term and long-term results for the domestic and international status of the United States of America.

Having followed the rise of Barack Hussein Obama since 2004, I unequivocally claim that Barack Hussein Obama does not have just five of the above characteristics to qualify as having NPD, nay, Barack Hussein Obama exhibits all of them. The American public saw that in his presidential election campaign that he presented himself as the saving messiah to the American electorate on a small scale and to the world on a large scale. That was the aim of the Hope and Change con-promotion. In reading reports about his past successes[9], which were often the successes of others, one will find that Barack Hussein Obama thinks that he has proven that he has power, is a brilliant orator[10], a charismatic person in the vein of John F. Kennedy[11], and the ideal person with whom one could fall in love, as the escapade with a one-time lover Vera Baker proves.[12]

Barack Hussein Obama thrives on admiration, mainly from his followers, known as Obots and the mainstream media. This proves to him that he is special, unique, and is entitled to be the President. Considering the number of people that Barack Hussein Obama has exploited in his career and his stance on abortion[13], we can deduce that Barack Hussein Obama lacks any human empathy, particularly when he receives setbacks from persons who do not agree with him.[14] In his planning, Barack Hussein Obama organizes as the calculator of events, but at the same time has the coldness of a heartless person. He envies others and insults them, particularly other world leaders like the German Chancellor Angela Merkel[15] and the French President Nicholas Zarkocy[16], as well as the new British Prime Minister David Cameron[17]. In practically every public appearance, whether making a speech, being on a television interview or a radio show, Barack Hussein Obama is almost always arrogant and haughty. His speeches are full of a first-person singular-to-sentence ratio of over 50 percent. The schizoid aspect, which is paralleled by Barack Hussein Obama's Marxist-dialectic socialism/communism theories, occurs in his being exceedingly grandiose and arrogant with the antithesis of being thin-skinned and easily oversensitive, the synthesis of which evolves in Barack Hussein Obama's overcompensation: behaving in a superior way over others by criticizing them and coming across as being perfect. One only has to recall his tirades at the independent-conservative Tea Party Movement, radio-talk-show host Rush Limbaugh, and the radio and Fox News reporter talk-show-host Glen Beck, labeling them as racists and anti-democratic, anti-liberal. This organization and these personalities are anti the liberalism of Barack Hussein Obama. Yet, if we examine his own liberalism, we will find that any vestige of liberalism exists in Barack Hussein Obama only to the extent that liberals consider themselves better than the freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution for the United States of America and the United States form of government: constitutional republicanism.

SUBSTANTIATION

The narcissist Barack Hussein Obama is at one-and-the-same time intrusive and neglective, as the behavior related at the beginning of this essay shows. Narcissist Barack Hussein Obama blames others for his own shortcomings, instills guilt in them, and criticizes them while he emotionally withdraws from the situation. The result is that narcissist Barack Hussein Obama will force compliance with his needs and goals, as he did in pressuring Congress to pass ObamaCare without the senators and representatives reading the legislative bill.

Narcissistic Barack Hussein Obama cannot accept being rejected. He is convinced of his greatness and executes behavior that results in his having to be successful at all costs. If a policy or political program fails, Barack Hussein Obama will always blame the situation on others, but never on himself. Criticism is threatening to him. His methods of protection can occur in rage against his advisors, and disdain for critics of his policies. This is often accompanied by a withdrawal from reality and a show of false humility or an attempt at trying to be modest which at the same time disguises the real goal of wishing to be feared because he is such a mega-personality. The result is megalomania.

Though individuals with NPD are often ambitious and capable, they have an inability to tolerate setbacks, disagreements, or criticism. They lack empathy. NPD makes it difficult for such individuals to work cooperatively with others. They cannot maintain long-term professional achievements on their own. With NPD disorder, the person's perceived fantastic grandiosity, often coupled with a hypo-manic behavior, is typically not commensurate with his real accomplishments, which are negligible.

Barack Hussein Obama's dependence on exploitation, his sense of entitlement, his lack of empathy, his disregard for others, and his constant need for attention, all inherent in NPD, adversely affect interpersonal relationships.

Writing in 2003, Sandy Hotchkiss and James F. Masterson[18] identified what they call the seven deadly sins of narcissism:

Shamelessness – This is the feeling that lies in wait beneath narcissism. Barack Hussein Obama has an inability to process shame positively. Barack Hussein Obama always covers his shame with a variety of disguises. Some of them are: "I didn't know that." "I wasn't present." "I didn't hear that." "To answer your question is below my income level." "Let me be clear."

Magical thinking – Barack Hussein Obama sees himself as a perfectionist in using distortion and illusion (Yes, We Can). In clinical psychology this is called magical thinking. Barack Hussein Obama also uses this projection to place shame on others. ("I can, but you can't").

Arrogance – When Barack Hussein Obama feels down and dejected, he will get rid of this feeling by degrading or debasing someone else, regardless of who the person is. (Showing the stinky finger.)

Envy – Barack Hussein Obama secures a feeling of superiority vis-à-vis another person's ability by minimizing the other person's importance with contempt, either personally or by using other people to speak the words of contempt which will minimize the other person. ("You are racist." "You are anti-democratic." "I love this country, but you don't.")

Entitlement – Barack Hussein Obama has very unreasonable expectations to be treated favorably and that people should automatically comply with his positions because Barack Hussein Obama considers himself special. ("I am the President elect." "I won.") Those who fail to comply with his wishes, indeed, his judgment, will be considered as an enemy force attacking his superiority. Such opponents will be seen as defying his narcissistic disposition and this will cause Barack Hussein Obama to show rage.[19]

Exploitation – Barack Hussein Obama exercises authority via total control. He depicts himself as being knowledgeable, without knowing simple facts. He constantly expounds on his competence, which has always relied on the competence of others more intelligent than he. He demands respect from them because he fears to appear stupid and incompetent.

Barack Hussein Obama exploits others without regard for their feelings or interests. He knows exactly how he is viewed or admired and he uses this knowledge in manipulating those people surrounding him. Resistance or opposition to his exploitation is practically impossible because the person Barack Hussein Obama exploits is in a subservient position. Whether or not the subservient position is real or assumed is not important. ("Never let a crisis go to waste.")[20]

Barack Hussein Obama has to compete with the political opposition, some of them being members of the Democratic Party and all of the members of the Republican Party who are not republican in name only. In this competition with other politicians there can be no allies from the opposing political parties, even though Barack Hussein Obama portrays a wish for bipartisanship. The final result if there is a negative outcome is that the opposition is wrong, and if something positive results, Barack Hussein Obama will take the full credit, even if it was the opposition that caused the positive outcome to happen. Barack Hussein Obama and his followers will show little or no transparency. There is no real sense of political community because Barack Hussein Obama allows no leeway for varying political views and political opinions. ("We had to pass the bill (ObamaCare) so that we could read what's in it." – Nancy Pelosi, Obama's Speaker of the House of Representatives.) The community, in this case the American society that is based on the fundamentals of the Founding Fathers, will be destroyed and become replaced by a virtual community that only at best synthesizes a sensation of community. (Organizing for America).

Bad Boundaries – Barack Hussein Obama does not realize that he has boundaries. Narcissist Barack Hussein Obama does not realize that there are boundaries between him and others. He does not comprehend that other people are not extensions of his being. He does not comprehend that they are separate from him. Other people exist to meet Barack Hussein Obama's needs only. If they do not meet his needs, they may as well not exist at all. Those who meet his needs will be handled as if they are a real part of his movement. Barack Hussein Obama will expect them to live up to his expectations, not the expectations of the laws of the land.[21]

These deadly sins, particularly deadly for those who are subservient to the narcissist, collectively result in a cult of the narcissist's personality that has no substantial foundation. In short that person is a charlatan. Charlatan leaders are always narcissists. That is exactly what Barack Hussein Obama is. His charlatanry is characterized by: a mega sense of self-worth, failure to accept personal responsibility, lack of empathy, lack of remorse, manipulation of others, superficial charm, and pathological lying. With respect to the latter it should be noted that as of this writing Barack Hussein Obama has lied to the American public, broken promises, done flip-flops, and caused scandals 1,731 times in hardly two years of his regime.[22]

CONCLUDING REMARKS

If Barack Hussein Obama were to go shopping in a grocery store, which he would not do because he believes it to be beneath his dignity, he would probably purchase some Kool-Aid, some sesame buns, potato-chips, coleslaw, a pint of ice-cream, and chicken breasts, possible ready-to-eat chicken breasts that would have to be warmed up in a microwave oven. In addition, he would also put the following into his shopping basket: fresh shrimps, lobster, caviar, a baguette, and a bottle of expensive French white wine or champagne (or both), and freshly imported fruits that a normal person cannot afford to purchase. The contents of Barack Hussein Obama's shopping basket reflect his personality and psychology. They show what Barack Hussein Obama is and what Barack Hussein Obama desires to be.

The more Americans are confronted with Barack Hussein Obama's political policies and beliefs, the more they should be convinced that Barack Hussein Obama is really unsuccessful at everything he undertakes. This was always the case. His partying in Chicago and the desire to continue to do such partying at the taxpayers' expense while in the White House is indicative that he preaches water and drinks wine. He refuses to comprehend the reality of the common American and instead wraps himself up in the everyday limelight, playing host at weekly parties, and with Air Force One, enjoying weekends at expensive, fancy restaurants in Chicago. Indeed, with such behavior Barack Hussein Obama is showing his person as he desires to be: the type who lives fantasies as a successful politician; powerful and clean. Everyone else in [Chicago and Illinois] politics is immoral, corrupt, and a liar, but not Barack Hussein Obama! His pseudo-stature and so-called influence and rhetorical greatness is that of a false personality. He impresses with qualities that he does not possess. He appears to possess a morality, but he has no moral core. He displays himself as being integer, yet in reality he does not know what integrity means. He professes to love humankind, and at the same time takes a stance on abortion that is totally evil. He double speaks by calling truths untruths without knowing what a truth is. In short, Barack Hussein Obama has a narcissistic personality disorder, sometimes referred to as a narcissistic personality syndrome.

Barack Hussein Obama's personality, if one can call it that, is possessed by a controlled, evil pattern of grandiosity, fantasy of power, success, always being right, and always having the answers. The man does not only need to be admired, he greeds after it in an insatiable manner. Barack Hussein Obama holds himself to be somebody that he really is not. He wants the whole world to recognize him as being entirely and extremely important, all the while his real, dark personality showing that it has no core value. Barack Hussein Obama's aura is success at all cost. Barack Hussein Obama's implosion is success at the cost of everyone else. That is the reason he is unable to choose people who are themselves capable of showing morality. With negative characters as advisors he considers himself to be psychotically successful. The world owes him something.

Barack Hussein Obama gives other people (like John McCain, Sarah Palin, and Hillary Clinton, or anyone who contradicts his policies) the stinky finger, because he himself is not as successful as they are. In bowing to foreign heads of state Barack Hussein Obama shows his backside to the American public. The American public, if they have employment, work for a living. Barack Hussein Obama has never experienced real work in his whole life. For the most part the success of Hillary Clinton, John McCain, Sarah Palin, and the American worker is of their own creation. Barack Hussein Obama's so-called success is that of others who instituted legislation, who served on government committees, and who worked honestly in their lives. His upward move has always been accompanied by people that he threw under the bus.<sup>[23]</sup> Only his self-manufactured narcissistic bubble maintains the apparition.

I-did-not-see-it-I-did-not-hear-it-I-did-not-attend-that-Sunday Barack Hussein Obama has no spiritual development. Barack Hussein Obama's being a member of anti-America-God-damn-America-the-chicken-have-come-home-to-roost-America Jeremiah Wright's Trinity Church of Christ on the South Side of Chicago was not because Barack Hussein Obama wanted to develop spiritually, if that is at all possible in this church, but because the church served as a means to an end: the wish to be elected to political office from the South End of Chicago.<sup>[24]</sup>

Barack Hussein Obama insults the United States of America by bowing to heads of state like: the Saudi-Arabian King Abdullah Ibn Abdul Aziz Al Saud, who is the leader of Muslims world-wide; the President of the People's Republic of China, Hu Jintao; and Emperor Akihito of Japan. By doing so Barack Hussein Obama intentionally places himself in the limelight and shows his anterior to the American public. This is a personal insult to the people Barack Hussein Obama represents in the very basest manner. The President of the United States of America, except for this narcissist, never bows to foreign heads of state.

Barack Hussein Obama envies and begrudges successful people and the roots of this behavior lie deep in his childhood experiences. Neither his Kenyan father, an instable alcoholic and drug addict, nor his mother, an atheistic, communistic, anti-American, sexually insatiable hussy, paid recognition to Barack Hussein Obama's child personality, probably because his personality was an extension of her own inadequacies. As a child he neither received nor experienced a feeling of self-value. The formation of his child life and the development of his character never experienced what psychoanalysts know as self esteem. Barack Hussein Obama had a false self in a child psyche that should have been formed by a value of the self. Thus Barack Hussein Obama is a kind of human cuckoo, made by his mother, not by his father, nor his step-father. Barack Hussein Obama's mother never really came to accept him, transferring him from the Kenyan nest to the Hawaiian nest to the Indonesian nest and back to the nest in Hawaii. That is why when he was old enough, his mother, Stanley Ann (Anna) Dunham, sent him from Indonesia back to his maternal grandmother's nest in Hawaii. The result was a parental relationship coming out of a social sphere personified by his mother. This developed in a living hatred for everything that is America, hatred of values and hatred of others who were successful. Eventually these became goals themselves, but they were not to be achieved by hard work based upon positive character. Barack Hussein Obama sought these goals knowing Gustave LeBon's theory of hypnotism of the masses, the evil anti-human writings of Saul Alinsky, the weird world communist views of his so-called mentor Frank Marshall Davis, and his associations with the terrorist-activists William Ayers and Bernadine Dohrn.[25] Only in this evil manner could he become so-called successful in corrupt Chicago and Illinois politics. Only with this immoral evil behind him could he feel as powerful as he would like to be and thus present himself as someone he is not.

It would have been more emphatic to spell the term that describes Barack Hussein Obama with the inclusion of the German word for fool: Narr. Thus we would have Narcissist, which is what Barack Hussein Obama is: a fool in love with himself.

Including colloquialisms and slang, there are at least ninety-six English synonyms for fool. They are in alphabetical order: addle-brain, addle-head, addle-pate, antic, ass, beetlehead, birdbrain, blockhead, bonehead, booby, buffoon, butt, cat's paw, chucklehead, chump, clod, clown, coot, cuckoo, cull, dimwit, ding-a-ling, dingbat, dolt, donkey, dope, droll, dullard, dumbbell, dumbhead, dummy, dunce, dunderhead, dunderpate, dupe, featherbrain, flake, goat, goop, goose, greenhorn, gudgeon, gull, half-wit, harebrain, harlequin, idiot, ignoramus, imbecile, jay, jerk, jester, jokester, know-nothing, knucklehead, low-brow, lubber, lout, lunkhead, meatball, meathead, blockhead, merry-andrew, mooncalf, moron, muggings, nincompoop, ninny, nitwit, noodle, numskull, oaf, pierrot, pigeon, pinhead, puchinello, punch, rattlebrain, rattlehead, rattlepate, sap, saphead, scarmouche, scatterbrain, silly billy (with respect to Barack Hussein Obama: silly Barry) silly, Simple Simon, simpleton, stooge, stupidhead, tomfool, tool, wiseacre, yo-yo, zany, zombie.

All of the synonyms apply in one way or another to Barack Hussein Obama. If the reader does not agree, then you are reminded of the related situation at the beginning of this essay. Normalcy is not mania. Normalcy is not Barack Hussein Obama laughing and joking upon arrival at a meeting of important White House advisors, not paying attention to their remarks and opinions, and then ten minutes later leaving them alone after he did not take part. Barack Hussein Obama conducted himself as if he were on a drug trip. This is not the way a world leader behaves and leads a world power, or the way any leader of a country acts, unless they are megalomaniac like Adolf Hitler (1889-1945), Benito Mussolini (1883-1945), Josef Stalin (1879-1953), or Mao Zedong (1893-1976). In conducting his behavior in this manner Barack Hussein Obama is laughing at the United States of America, its republican institutions, and the Constitution for the United States of America.

Successful criminals, indeed political criminals who are not caught and brought to justice are narcissists. Let's catch this one before it is too late for the United States of America. Bring Barack Hussein Obama to trial for high treason against the United States of America, high treason against the Constitution for the United States of America, and above all, high treason against WE THE PEOPLE.

Barack Hussein Obama! You can laugh all you want! History will ultimately laugh at you and those who got you elected. Yet, the last laugh at you will be from WE THE PEOPLE.
