

Indefensible

(Sung to the tune Unforgettable)

Illegitimate is what you are;
Not a natural born, but from afar;
With a book by your pal William Ayers;
And some cash from George the billionaire;
You pulled off the fraud;
And apologized abroad.

Indefensible, that's what you are;
Making every pal a czar;
Just a thug, who from Chicago came;
Claiming only Bush deserves the blame;
Voters bought the hype;
But now they're left to gripe.

Unassailable, Hardball proclaims;
Tingling every time he hears your name;
Rachel, Keith, and Katie Couric too;
Show they haven't got the slightest clue;
Blinded by red dreams;
From Saul Alinsky's schemes.

Unreversible, we now regret;
Inescapable, the added debt;
Hope and change, so many fell for you;
Now we crave a Sarah Palin coup.
And we pray that you're indictable too.

Don Fredrick
June 22, 2011

