ObamaCare Destroying Marriages (before They Begin)

Source:

http://www.americanthinker.com/2014/04/obamacare_destroying_marriages.html.

JT: Well, Obama likes to abort unborn babies. Why not abort marriages before they are marriages. Unborn babies are not babies until they are born. Marriages are not marriages until there is an official service. Therefore, it is okay to abort them. Do you follow? We can take this a little further. Barack Hussein Obama is not a natural born citizen. Therefore, he can be aborted!

Muslim Brotherhood Launches Own U.S. Political Party

Source: <http://news.investors.com/ibd-editorials/040114-695470-muslim-brotherhood-launches-own-american-political-party.htm?ref=mp>

JT: Methinks that should the new Muslim Brotherhood political party have a nominate one of their own for the presidency in 2016, Barack Hussein Obama will surely make sure that the candidate will win. It's called election fraud and Obama is an expert at it. Additionally, the Clintons will support the candidate because the candidate will be a shoe-in (quip intended!) because the Clintons are experts at fraud, as well.

JT: At a press conference in South Korea Julie Pace of the Associated Press asked Barack Hussein Obama two thought-provoking questions concerning international relations:

Question 1: Have you slept well (on your tour)?

Question 2: Did you like the ice-cream served at the state dinner in Japan?

JT is honored to have Obama's spontaneous teleprompter programmed answers after he knew the two questions were going to be asked.

Answer to question 1: uh err, amm, erm huh!

Answer to question 2: huh, erm, amm, err uh.

JT: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=2GOQyc748gA> This is transparency! There are two possible explanations of what's in this run:

1. Barack Hussein Obama is in his private motorcade on his way to a rendezvous with his body servant.
2. Michelle is hiding while she eats one of her delicious veggie pizzas topped with French fries.

Plant Worker: Aborted Babies Had Been Incinerated for Years, “There Was So Much Blood”

by Steven Ertelt | Washington, DC | LifeNews.com | 4/25/14 11:20 AM

A former plant worker at the facility found to be burning aborted babies for energy says the practice had been going on for years and he believes plant officials and perhaps even county government officials should have known.

Local officials in Oregon are upset that an energy plant is reportedly burning aborted babies from Canada to generate electricity. As LifeNews reported on Thursday, they launched an investigation into how and why aborted babies were included along with medical waste shipped from Canada to Oregon to be incinerated for energy at a recycling plant.

The Marion County Commissioners heard about it for the first time yesterday, April 23, at 4 p.m. They immediately called Oregon Right to Life to express their horror and avow their lack of knowledge of the practice.

Commissioner Sam Brentano said the “waste-to-energy” plant was intended to efficiently destroy waste and, in the process, generate electricity, but the plant was “never intended to be a destruction of human fetal tissue.”

But plant worker KOIN interviewed Bud Waterman, a former temp worker at Covanta Marion, Inc., who told the television station that he saw 53-foot tractor trailers carrying biohazardous material dropping off loads at the facility at least two to three times a week. He said plant officials had to know that aborted babies were part of the medical waste and had been for years.

From the report:

On more than one occasion, Waterman said the contents of the truck spilled out of their containers.

“It would make you sick, especially if you had to clean it up or have to pull a box off the trailer,” said Waterman.

Covanta responded to the claims early Thursday morning by placing blame on Marion County and said the company is halting the program until answers are given.

“The medical waste program at the Marion County Resource Recovery Facility is County run and managed,” Covanta said in a statement. “Marion County contracts for and delivers medical waste to the facility and Covanta has no responsibility for the program. Covanta is shocked by these allegations and is discontinuing the receipt of this waste stream until we have been assured by the County that this alleged material is not being delivered to the facility.”

Waterman said he believes certified contractors have been carrying fetuses from British Columbia to Oregon, where state statutes allow fetuses to be disposed.

“I don’t know that you can know just like I should have known, but I didn’t,” said Brentano. “I’m sorry I didn’t know that this included fetal tissue, but now that I do know, believe me things change.”

Waterman said he believes fetuses have been incinerated at the Marion County facility for years and used for energy, a practice that the Canadian government will not do.

“They knew it, they had to. I don’t see how they could not know it,” said Waterman.

Don Fredrick of The Obama Timeline reports: "Michelle Obama makes an appearance on the NBC situation comedy Parks and Recreation. According to TheHill.com, Mrs. Obama 'provided an inspirational pep talk for Amy Poehler's character Leslie Knope, a civil servant who [was] weighing a job offer with the National Parks Service. "We need passionate people like you on our national parks," the first lady told Poehler's character, prompting vigorous nodding. "Are you nodding because you agree with me?" the first lady asked. China Gets Tough On Islam, Bans The Muslim Hijab And Long Beard. Source: <http://shoebat.com/2014/04/27/china-gets-tough-islam-bans-muslim-hijab-long-beard/>

JT: Methinks they should ban the complete ideology! An ideology that openly advocates killing people who don't believe in it has given up its right to freedom of speech.

“How dreadful are the curses which Mohammedanism lays on its votaries! Besides the fanatical frenzy, which is as dangerous in a man as hydrophobia in a dog, there is this fearful fatalistic apathy. The effects are apparent in many countries. Improvident habits, slovenly systems of agriculture, sluggish methods of commerce, and insecurity of property exist wherever the followers of the Prophet rule or live. A degraded sensualism deprives this life of its grace and refinement; the next of its dignity and sanctity. The fact that in Mohammedan law every woman must belong to some man as his absolute property – either as a child, a wife, or a concubine – must delay the final extinction of slavery until the faith of Islam has ceased to be a great power among men. Thousands become the brave and loyal soldiers of the faith: all know how to die but the influence of the religion paralyses the social development of those who follow it. No stronger retrograde force exists in the world. Far from being moribund, Mohammedanism is a militant and proselytizing faith.”

This quotation from Winston Churchill's book The River War has got Paul Weston, chairman of the party Liberty GB and candidate in the 22 May European Elections arrested for "a Racially Aggravated Crime, under Section 4 of the Public Order Act, which carries a potential prison sentence of 2 years."

Yes, justice happened in a swift manner and forceful [sic; forcefully], yes, that occurred today. But these events remind all of us that hatred and bigotry are far from over. From <http://townhall.com/columnists/gabriellahoffman/2014/05/01/communists-arent-cool-honor-victims-of-communism-this-may-day-n1831899/page/full>

Back in 2007, The Volokh Conspiracy's Ilya Somin called on readers to commemorate the 100+ million lives lost under communism:

May Day began as a holiday for socialists and labor union activists, not just communists. But over time, the date was taken over by the Soviet Union and other communist regimes and used as a propaganda tool to prop up their regimes. I suggest that we instead use it as a day to commemorate those regimes' millions of victims. The authoritative Black Book of Communism estimates the total at 80 to 100 million dead, greater than that caused by all other twentieth century tyrannies combined. We appropriately have a Holocaust Memorial Day. It is equally appropriate to commemorate the victims of the twentieth century's other great totalitarian tyranny. And May Day is the most fitting day to do so. I suggest that May Day be turned into Victims of Communism Day...

Why hasn't more attention been given to global communism? Most academics and figureheads skip over it or downplay its horrors. It's truly sad.

To better put things into perspective about communism, here are some figures:

- Historian R.J. Rummel says approximately 62 million people were killed in the former Soviet Union from 1917-1987 in his book, Lethal Politics: Soviet Genocide and Mass Murder Since 1917.

- Roughly 45 million people were killed during Mao Zedong's 'Great Leap Forward' from 1958-1962.

- 35,000 to 141,000 people were killed in communist Cuba from 1959-1987. (It's still a communist nation, so that number is subject to fluctuate.)

- Over 100 million across the globe have died as a result of communism.

There are many of us with anti-Communist backgrounds speaking out against historical revisionism.

Senator Ted Cruz (R-TX), son of a Cuban immigrant, often shares his family story to audiences. He's inspired to fend off big government and moral relativism thanks to father Rafael Cruz's influence. Like his father, Cruz speaks out against Cuban dictator Fidel Castro and stresses the importance of combating tyranny.

Congressional candidate Igor Birman, former chief of staff for Congressman Tom McClintock who's running in California's 7th District, escaped the former Soviet Union and came to America in 1994. Birman has amassed support for his campaign due to his story of fleeing tyranny for freedom. If he wins the June primary and later the general election in November, he'd be the first Soviet born representative in Congress.

Just like National Socialism, global communism deserves equal, if not more, condemnation. Fortunately, many Americans aren't allowing its horrors to go unnoticed.

Radio Free Europe reports that U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) plans to prosecute former KGB officials residing here who've committed Soviet war crimes.

Additionally, the Victims of Communism Memorial Foundation is planning to build a museum in Washington, D.C., by 2017 to properly honor communism's victims and to educate Americans about its sordid history. (Please support the museum's efforts here.)

I often write about communism here at Townhall.com because my family escaped from the former Soviet Union. My maternal grandfather was imprisoned in one of Joseph Stalin's gulags at the Belomor Canal on the Finnish-Russian border for 18 months because he was Catholic and owned property. My father and his family faced institutionalized anti-Semitism for being Jewish. As a result, I refuse to be silent on the issue.

Much to the chagrin of naysayers, communism doesn't need to be retried and "perfected." It's an equal opportunity oppressor. Why? It tortures and kills people of all races, religions, genders, ages, or social strata for not subscribing to its doctrine.

Fellow freedom-loving Americans: don't let communists hijack May 1. Instead, use this day to commemorate victims of communism and to educate our peers about its horrors.

JT: I wonder when freedom-loving Americans will finally go after the Number 1 Hijacker in America: Barack Hussein Obama?
