The American Crisis

Nothing Except Honesty Is Required

A Call To Take Action

Number Fourteen

Constitutional guarantees are only words! One either obeys them and the oath of office to the Constitution, or one does not. Barack Hussein Obama does not obey the Constitution for the United States of America and he does not uphold his oath to the Constitution. How can he? His oath is to Muhammad, the Koran, and to Islam! All other statements he makes are only words without meaning!

Money is only money! One either has it or one does not have it! The United States of America does not have it! It has only financial bookkeeping entries, inflation, and a national debt that will probably never be paid off ... at least as long as DemocRATS are in political power. Nevertheless, where constitutional guarantees for citizens and finances are concerned, all that is required is pure honesty.

When any necessity or occasion has pointed out the convenience of addressing the public, I have never made it a consideration whether the subject was popular or unpopular, but whether it was right or wrong; for that which is right will become popular, and that which is wrong, though by mistake it may obtain the cry or fashion of the day, will soon lose the power of delusion and sink into disesteem.

A remarkable instance of this happens in the case of Barack Hussein Obama. I mention this circumstance with the greater ease, because the poison of his hypocrisy has spread over the whole country, and every man and woman, almost without exception, has thought me wrong in opposing him. The majority of colleagues I had in academia in 2008/2009 and again in 2012/2013 stood at a distance. They deserve no tribute, no respect, and that is enough agreeable reflection. Such should be the fate of Barack Hussein Obama and his regime!

As he rises like a rocket, he will fall like a stick, is a metaphor which I have often applied to Barack Hussein Obama. He has exactly fulfilled the description. The credit he had so unjustly obtained from the public in 2008 and again in 2012, he has lost in almost as short a time. The rocket of delusion perished as it fell, and Barack Hussein Obama will soon see himself stripped of popular support. Many Americans have begun to doubt him. Many have deserted him. Many have decided to turn their backs on the DemocRAT Party, but not on America.

When Barack Hussein Obama looks in a mirror he sees himself as being perfect. Yet, if Americans look carefully in Obama's mirror they will observe cracks showing that he is really the object of general suspicion. When Barack Hussein Obama arrived in Washington, D. C., he thanked all of his thug supporters who did everything illegal that they could do to get him elected to office. They, in turn, fell upon their knees, paid reverence to Barack Hussein Obama, and then began to fall upon American citizens. Immediately, Barack Hussein Obama endeavored to continue by fraud what he had accomplished by treason. His plans, schemes and projects, together with his expectation of being the commander-in-chief have all miscarried. Barack Hussein Obama wants America to be a ruined country. He only meant to make a tool of America to get what profit he can out of her and then to leave her and accommodate with Islamic countries. To complete the character of a traitor, Barack Hussein Obama has used every expression and argument in his power to injure the reputation of America and to advise America to renounce her allegiance to the republic form of government and free market economy, and then surrender up her independence to his socialism-communism. Thus he abuses America and is endeavoring to create disunion among the different social and cultural classes of the American society by the same arts of double-dealing by which in the past he had already caused dissensions and distractions in America in whatever position he occupied.

Barack Hussein Obama's life has been a fraud. His character has been that of a plodding, plotting, cringing mercenary, capable of any disguise that suited his purpose. This final detection will very happily clear up those mistakes and remove that uneasiness which his unprincipled conduct occasions. Every one now sees Barack Hussein Obama in the same light; for towards friends and most enemies, Barack Hussein Obama has acted with the same deception and injustice, and his name, like that of America's famous traitor Benedict Arnold, ought never to be forgotten among WE the People. This is not the first time that I have mentioned Barack Hussein Obama as a traitor and it is my intention that it shall not be the last.

The domestic war against WE the People is not the domestic war of Congress, although they are doing nothing to stop it, but the domestic war of the Obama regime in any line whatever. At the same time, Barack Hussein Obama's domestic war on America has the accompanying quality that it can be used as a war of WE the People in OUR own behalf for the security of OUR natural rights, and the protection of OUR own property. First, by mutual compact WE the People have resolved to defend OUR rights and maintain OUR independence at the hazard of OUR lives and fortunes; WE have elected OUR representatives, by whom WE appointed OUR members of Congress, and said, act you for US, and WE the People will support you. This is the true ground and principle of the relationship of WE the People with the representatives on the part of America, and consequently, there remains nothing to do but for everyone to fulfill their obligation. It is the duty of the elected representatives to exercise the will of WE the People and not the will of Barack Hussein Obama, or any political party, especially the DemocRATS.

It is next to impossible that a relatively new country, engaged in a relatively new undertaking, can set off systematically right at first. WE the People have not seen the true extent of the struggle in which America is involved. Neither can WE the People avoid the beginning. WE the People supposed every step that is taken and every resolution formed would bring the enemy Obama regime to reason and close the contest. Those failing, WE the People have been forced into new measures; and these, like the former, being fitted to their expectations, and failing in their turn, have left WE the People initially unprovided and without system. Likewise, the enemy, Obama regime has been induced to prosecute the domestic war. WE the People have been continually expecting to see Obama's credit exhausted. The Obama regime has been looking to see our historic fight lose. Thus, between their watching US, and WE the People watching them, the hopes of both have been deceived, and the childishness of the expectation has served to increase the expense. WE the People are not interested in the possibilities of US being defeated. American Patriots will not take part in shielding Americans from the effects of Obama's folly, like the lamestream media does. To do so is to fill America with fools. Surely America has enough of them adoring the chief of fools Barack Hussein Obama!

Yet, who, through this wilderness of error, has been to blame? Where is the man or woman who can say the fault, in part, has not been his or hers? The faults are the Obama-caused errors of the election days. The faults are the errors of a whole country, which nothing but experience can detect and time remove. Neither can the circumstances of America admit of system till either those who committed election fraud in 2008 and 2012 have been tried, convicted, and sentenced, or the election system has been fixed. No calculation of an election could be made on a medium failing without reason and fluctuating without rule.

There is one error which might have been prevented and was not; and as it is not my custom to flatter, but to serve America, I will speak it freely. It certainly was the duty of every election body in America to have known, at all times, what the condition of its voting system is, and to have ascertained at every period of depreciation how much the real worth of the vote fell short of their nominal value: one person, one vote. This knowledge, which might have been easily gained, in the time of it, would have enabled the senators and representatives to have kept their constituents well informed. Instead the voters were brainwashed with the mantra of hope and change which has become American dopes in chains.

Keeping constituents informed is one of the greatest duties of representation. The same logic applies to government finances. They ought to have studied and calculated the expenses of the Obama regime, the quota of each state, and the consequent proportion that would fall on each person's income as a result of voting for Barack Hussein Obama; and this must have easily shown to them that an increase of 6.666 trillion dollars in six years cannot be repaid by this generation or the next generation. But instead of this, which would have been plain and upright dealing, the little line of temporary popularity, the feather of an hour's duration was too much pursued; and in this involved condition of things, every senator and representative, for the want of a little thinking, or a little information, supposed that it supported the whole expenses of the Obama regime, when in fact it has come to a point that can never be repaid. Obama's thinking and actions are destructive thinking and actions that have become incongruous with intelligence.

The reality of the comparison of the socialist-communist policies of Barack Hussein Obama with the free market policies of his predecessor George W. Bush yields the following facts respective the George W. Bush and the Barack Hussein Obama administrations:

- Full time workers: 120 million vs. 116 million
- Workforce participation: 66% vs. 63.2%
- Home ownership: 70% vs. 62%
- Median income: $55,484 vs. $52,098
- Poverty rate: 13% vs. 15%
- People on food stamps: 31.6 million vs. 47.8 million
- Debt-to-GDP: 64.8% vs. 101.6%

Such is the preview of socialism-communism: government handouts lead to deficits and negativism!

Impressed with a sense of the danger to which America has been exposed by this method of doing business, and the prevailing errors of the day, Barack Hussein Obama has nevertheless demanded a carte blanche for America's debt financing just as he has demanded carte blanche for the election process (one person, multiple votes), to say nothing of the amnesty legislation for illegal immigrants, who would automatically become DemocRAT Party members and vote multiple times.

Some say – most empathically the enemedia – that America cannot bear to change the ruling system of Barack Hussein Obama and the DemocRATS. This has been the most expensive doctrine that ever was held out and has cost America trillions of dollars for nothing. Can the United States of America bear to be overrun, ravaged, and ruined by the enemy Obama regime? This will immediately follow if an about-face is not undertaken in the November 2014 congressional elections. Independence would be wanting and will ever be wanting when and where sufficient constitutional freedoms are not guaranteed. But this is only one part of the folly. The second is, that when the danger comes and there is no political turn-around in November 2014, WE the People will be obliged by Obama and the DemocRATS, in a number of instances, to expend double the sums of money to do that which at first might have been done for half the money. But this is not all. A third mischief is the institutionalization of socialism-communism – the manifestation of fear on the American souls – under Barack Hussein Obama and the DemocRATS. This can be accomplished in 2014-2016 when Barack Hussein Obama's second term expires, or he will call out martial law by claiming a national emergency and remain longer to institute socialism-communism, which is the opposite of freeing markets from the chains of centralization.

Now, I ask, why was all this done, but from that extremely weak and expensive doctrine, as some say, that America could not bear to change the Obama system? That is, that America could not bear, in the first instance, that which would have saved her twice as much at last; or, in proverbial language, that America could not bear to pay a cent to save a dollar; the consequence of which has been, that she has paid a dollar for a cent. Why are there so many unpaid Federal Reserve certificates in almost every person's hands, provided they do not have credit cards? Why is there politically wanted socialist-communist parsimony of not providing sufficient revenues and incomes? Besides, the doctrine contradicts itself; because, if the whole country cannot bear to change the ruling system of Barack Hussein Obama, how is it possible that it should? Yet, this has been the case: for unsuccessful stimulus packages have been had; and they had to be had; but the misfortune is that they had been obtained and executed in a very unequal manner, and upon expensive credit, whereas, with ready money, they might have been successful for half the price, and nobody distressed.

The doctrine of Barack Hussein Obama and his supportive POLDS that America needs socialism-communism is false. Peoples in the free world have always tried to kill socialism-communism, but where it has taken hold, it has killed the people. There are not any large numbers of people in any part of the universe who live so well, or have such a fund of ability, as in the United States of America. The income of a common laborer, who is industrious, is equal to that, if not more, of the generality of tradesmen anywhere. In many professions and industries I have not heard of one who could be said to be bankrupt without DemocRAT-supported union demands. In America almost every farmer/rancher still lives on his own lands. Everyone in America still has the opportunity to fulfill one's dreams without Obama's hope and change. Before ObamaCare arrived one could chose their doctor and there was no death-panel noose tightened around one's neck. These freedoms are disappearing and more freedoms are disappearing daily under the dictatorship of Barack Hussein Obama, for he occupies a position of unquestioned ascendancy and with every political undertaking he constitutes a system of plunder.

Yet, notwithstanding those advantages on the part of America, true it is that had it not been for the patriotism of Americans, the nation would have already sunk into a state of sloth and poverty. There is more wealth lost by neglecting to work and waiting for the government handout than by any bankruptcy. That which is lost by neglect of this kind, is lost forever: whereas that which is received for work without governmental interference, and remains in the country, returns to us again; and at the same time that it provides us with security, it operates not only as a spur, but as a premium to America's industry.

There was a time when America had no other bond of union than that of common interest and affection. In the 1770s the whole country marched to the relief of Boston, and, making Britain's cause America's own, participated in Boston's cares and administered to Boston's wants. The fate of the Revolutionary War is that the union became strengthened by a legal compact of the states, jointly and severally ratified, and that which before was choice, or the duty of affection, is now likewise the duty of legal obligation.

The union of America is the foundation stone of her independence; the rock on which it is built; and is something so sacred in her Constitution, that WE ought to watch every word WE speak, and every thought WE think, that WE injure it not, even by mistake. When a multitude, extended, or rather scattered, over a continent in the manner Americans are, mutually agree to form one common centre whereon the whole shall move to accomplish a particular purpose, all parts must act together and alike, or act not at all, and a stoppage in any one is a stoppage of the whole, at least for a time.

Before political parties – particularly the DemocRATS played to the whims of the people by making promises for their being elected – government in America was quite simple. Thus throughout America the several states have sent representatives to assemble together in Congress, and they have empowered that body, which thus becomes their centre, and are no other than themselves in representation, to conduct and manage politics, while their constituents at home attend to the domestic cares of the regions and states, their internal legislation, their farms/ranches, professions or employments, for it is only by reducing complicated things to method and orderly connection that they can be understood with advantage, or pursued with success. Congress, by virtue of this delegation, is supposed to estimate the expense, and apportion it out to the several parts of the country (and the federal departments) and according to their several economic abilities and necessities; and here the debate must end, because each state (and federal department) has already had its voice, and the matter has undergone its whole portion of argument, and can no more be altered by any particular state, than a law of any state, after it has passed, can be altered by any individual. For with respect to those things which immediately concern the union, and for which the union was purposely established by We the People, and is intended to secure, each state is to the United States what each individual is to the state in which that person lives. It is on this grand point, this movement upon one centre, that our existence as a nation, our happiness as a people, and our safety as individuals, depend.

It may happen that some state or other may be somewhat over-rated or under-rated, but this cannot be much. The experience which has been had upon the matter has nearly ascertained their several abilities. Yet, even in this case it can only admit of an appeal to the United States, but cannot authorize any state to make the alteration itself, any more than our internal government can admit an individual to do so in the case of an act of assembly; for if one state can do it, then may another do the same, and the instant this is done the whole is undone. Furthermore, if an individual can make alterations in the law like Barack Hussein Obama has done with ObamaCare the whole is also undone. As of this writing there have been 40 changes by Obama single handedly! Ironical as it may appear, perhaps this is the solution to getting rid of Barack Hussein Obama! One state can start the getting-rid-of-Barack-Hussein-Obama avalanche!

Neither is it supposable that any single state can be a judge of all the comparative reasons which may influence the collective body in arranging the laws of the country. The circumstances of the several states are frequently varying, occasioned by the political accidents and commerce, and it will often fall upon some to help others, rather beyond what their exact proportion at another time might be; but even this assistance is as naturally and politically included in the idea of a union as that of any particular assigned proportion; because we know not whose turn it may be next to want assistance, for which reason that state is the wisest which sets the best example.

Though in matters of bound duty and reciprocal affection, it is rather degeneracy from the honesty and ardor of the heart to admit anything selfish to partake in the government of OUR conduct, yet in cases where OUR duty, OUR affections, and OUR interest all coincide, it may be of some use to observe their union. The United States of America will have become ever heir to an extensive quantity and quality of freedom ... believe it or not without Barack Hussein Obama and the DemocRATS!

It has been OUR error, as well as OUR misfortune, to blend the affairs of each state, especially in monetary matters, with those of the United States; whereas it is OUR case, convenience and interest, to keep them separate. The expenses of the United States of America for carrying on the federal business, and the expenses of each state for its own domestic government, are distinct matters, and to involve them is a source of perplexity and a cloak for fraud. I love method, because I see and am convinced of its beauty and advantage. It is that which makes all business easy and understood, and without which everything becomes embarrassed and difficult.

There are certain powers which the people of each state have delegated to their legislative and executive bodies, and there are other powers which the people of every state have delegated to Congress and, consequently, of managing the expenses attending it; for how else can that be managed, which concerns every state, but by a delegation from each? The individual states and WE the People have an undoubted right to know how the federal expenses have been applied, and it is as much the duty of Congress to inform the states and the individual, as it is the duty of the state and the individual to provide the other.

After the successful outcome in the November 2014 congressional election it will be an agreeable matter to see a spirit of order and economy taking place, after such a series of errors and difficulties. A government or an administration that means and acts honestly, has nothing to fear, and consequently has nothing to conceal.

In the past six years American Patriots have seen what a bitter, revengeful enemy regime we have to deal with and any expense is cheap compared to their merciless paw. WE the People have seen the unfortunate, conservative organizations and personalities hunted like partridges on the mountains by the Internal Revenue Service, and it is only by providing means for our patriotic defence, that WE the People shall be kept from the same condition.

When WE the People think or talk about Barack Hussein Obama, WE the People ought to recollect that at one time America sat down in peace and slept in safety; that Americans could follow their farms/ranches, or businesses, or other occupations, in prosperous tranquility without Obama's government regime involvement. These inestimable blessings were formerly procured to WE the People by the taxes that WE paid. In this view, OUR taxes were properly OUR insurance money; they were what WE paid to be made safe, and, in strict policy, were the best money WE could lay out. But nowadays taxes do not accomplish this. The payments are made by borrowing money from other nations, most of them unfriendly to the United States of America. It is time to reverse the situation. We must make America's system of politics and finance complete, and strictly just. The consequence is that it requires nothing but honesty to do it. There needs but little to be said upon it. For Barack Hussein Obama the guarantees of the Constitution are only words and money is only money, especially because they are not his constitutional guarantees and his money that he steals.
