FREDERICK WILLIAM DAME

RENOWNED, HISTORICAL VOICES COMMENT ON BARACK HUSSEIN OBAMA

ISSUE NUMBER FIFTEEN

In this issue of Renowned, Historical Voices Comment on Barack Hussein Obama, there are 37 historical personalities who make 131 comments. As with the comments from personalities in the previous issues, all of the statements are true and provide insight into what kind of a character Barack Hussein Obama is. To find out how Barack Hussein Obama can still be defeated, read the closing of this issue.

1. Tecumseh (1758-1813)

Tecumseh, Native American leader of the Shawnee and the large tribal confederacy known in American history as Tecumseh's Confederacy, fought against the opposed the United States during Tecumseh's War and the War of 1812. His status today is that of a folk hero in American and Canadian Native American history.

 On Americans under Obama: Once they were a happy race. Now they are made miserable by the Obama and POLDS, who are never contented but are always encroaching.¹

2. Napoleon I [Napoleon Bonaparte] (1769-1821)

Napoleon Bonaparte, French military and political leader who rose to power during the latter stages of the French Revolution and the complementary wars in Europe, became Emperor of the French from 1804-1815 as Napoleon I.

- On why Obama's socialism cannot take place in America: A form of government that is not the result of a long sequence of shared experiences, efforts, and endeavors can never take root.²
- Estimation of Obama: From the sublime to the ridiculous is but a step.3
- American Patriots to enemedia POLDS: You write ... that it's impossible; the word is not American.⁴

¹ Council at Vincennes, Indiana Territory, August 14, 1810, Answer to request to sit at "his father's (Governor William Henry Harrison's) side." Speech to Harrison.

² 1803. From J. Christopher Herold, The Mind of Napoleon, 1955.

³ To the Abbé Pradt on the retreat from Russia, referring to the retreat from Moscow, 1812.

⁴ Letter to General Lemarois, July 9, 1813.

- Words from the narcissist Obama: What is the presidency? – a place in an oval office. I am the state – I alone am here the representative of the people. Even if I had done wrong you should not have reproached me in public – people wash their dirty linen at home. The United States have more need of me than I of the United States.⁵

The bullet that will kill me is not yet cast.6

- Advice to American Patriots against Obama: Unite for the public safety, if you would remain an independent nation.⁷
- Obama on his relationship with Michelle: I generally had to give in.8
- Description of Obama: A silk stocking filled with mud.⁹
 - 3. Arthur Wellesley, Duke of Wellington (1769-1852)

Field Marshal Arthur Wellesley, 1st Duke of Wellington, of Anglo-Irish heritage, was a British soldier and statesman. Often called the Duke of Wellington, e was one of the leading military and political figures of the 19th century. His fame rests upon his having fought 60 battles and the fact that he defeated Napoleon at Waterloo in 1815.

- An American Patriot's maxim: The only thing I am afraid of is fear. 10
- On Barack Hussein Obama and his supporters: They are composed of the scum of the earth the mere scum of the earth. 11

4. Ludwig van Beethoven (1770-1827)

Ludwig van Beethoven, German composer and pianist is the transitional figure from the Classical era to the Romantic era in Western music. He composed 9 symphonies, 5 piano concertos, 32 piano sonatas, and 16 string quartets, as well as chamber music, choral works (e.g., Missa Solemnis), and songs. Probably his most famous symphony is Symphony Number Nine in which the famous Ode to Joy by Friedrich von Schiller is set to music. At the age of 26 Beethoven began to lose his hearing. By the time he died in 1827, he had been deaf for thirty years. During these years he never played piano in concerts, yet he composed and directed.

- Motto of an American Patriot: I want to seize fate by the throat. 12

⁶ At Montereau, February 17, 1814.

⁵ To the Senate, 1814.

⁷ Proclamation to the French people, June 22, 1815.

⁸ On St. Helena, May 19, 1816.

⁹ Description of Talleyrand.

¹⁰ November 3, 1831, From Philip Henry, Earl of Stanhope, Notes of Conversations with the Duke of Wellington, ¹¹ Ibid.. November 4, 1831.

¹² Letter to Dr. Franz Wegeler, November 16, 1801.

5. George Canning (1770-1827)

George Canning was a British statesman and politician. He served as Treasurer of the Navy (1804-1806), Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs (September 1822-April 1827 and March 1807-October 1809), Ambassador to Lisbon (1814-1816), Chancellor of the Exchequer (April 1827-August 1827), and Prime Minister (April 1827-August 1827)

- On Obama: A steady braggard of the world alone,

The friend of every country but his own. ¹³ And finds, with keen, discriminating sight, Black's not so black-nor white so very white. ¹⁴

But of all plagues, good Heav'n, thy wrath can send, Save, save, oh! save me from the Candid Friend. 15

6. Georg Wilhelm Friedrich Hegel (1770-1831)

Georg Wilhelm Friedrich Hegel, German idealist philosopher and historian revolutionized European philosophy by arguing that history is an idealist reality. From Wikipedia: "It is Hegel's account of how being is ultimately comprehensible as an all-inclusive whole. Hegel asserted that in order for the thinking subject (human reason or consciousness) to be able to know its object (the world) at all, there must be in some sense an identity of thought and being. Otherwise, the subject would never have access to the object and we would have no certainty about any of our knowledge of the world. To account for the differences between thought and being, however, as well as the richness and diversity of each, the unity of thought and being cannot be expressed as the abstract identity "A=A". Absolute idealism is the attempt to demonstrate this unity using a new "speculative" philosophical method, which requires new concepts and rules of logic. According to Hegel, the absolute ground of being is essentially a dynamic, historical process of necessity that unfolds by itself in the form of increasingly complex forms of being and of consciousness, ultimately giving rise to all the diversity in the world and in the concepts with which we think and make sense of the world." As such Hegel was a forerunner of Marxism and provided a core beginning philosophy of the destructiveness of political correctness, which means that the ideals of political correctness are contrary to the truths of history.

 To Americans on the first four years under the Obama regime: What experience and history teach is this – that people and governments never have learned anything from history, or acted on principles deduced from it.¹⁶

The history of America is none other than the progress of the consciousness of freedom.¹⁷

¹³ The Anti-Jacobin, number 36, 1798, New Morality, line 113.

¹⁴ Ibid., line 199.

¹⁵ Ibid., line 207.

¹⁶ Philosophy of History Introduction, 1832.

¹⁷ Ibid.

7. Joseph Hopkinson (1770-1842)

Joseph Hopkinson was a member of the U.S. House of Representatives from Pennsylvania (1816-1818), and later a United States federal judge (1828-1842).

- An American Patriot's cry: Hail, Columbia! happy land!

Hail, ye heroes! heaven-born band!

Who fought and bled in Freedom's cause.¹⁸

8. William Wordsworth (1770-1850)

William Wordsworth was an English Romantic poet whose joint publication of Lyrical Ballads with Samuel Taylor Coleridge in 1798, gave birth to the Romantic Age in English literature.

Suggested behavior concerning Obama's politics:

Have I not reason to lament What Obama has made of man?¹⁹

Nor less I deem that there are Powers Which of themselves our minds impress; That we can feed this mind of ours In a wise passiveness.²⁰

Come forth into the light of things, Let Nature be your teacher.²¹

One impulse from a vernal wood May teach you more of man, Of moral evil and of good, Than all the sages can.²²

I have learned

To look on nature, not as in the hour
Of thoughtless youth; but hearing oftentimes
The still, sad music of humanity,
Nor harsh nor grating, though of ample power
To chasten and subdue. And I have felt
A presence that disturbs me with the joy
Of elevated thoughts; a sense sublime
Of something far more deeply interfused,
Whose dwelling is the light of setting suns,
And the round ocean and the living air,
And the blue sky, and in the mind of man:
A motion and a spirit, that impels

¹⁸ Hail, Columbia, 1798, stanza 1.

¹⁹ Lines Written in Early Spring, 1798, stanza 6.

²⁰ Expostulation and Reply, 1798, stanza 6.

²¹ The Tables Turned, 1798, stanza 4.

²² Ibid., stanza 6.

All thinking things, all objects of all thought, And rolls through all things. Freedom!²³

- On the American Melting Pot: Dust as we are, the immortal spirit grows

Like harmony in music; there is a dark Inscrutable workmanship that reconciles

Discordant elements, makes them cling together

In one society.²⁴

On an America that once was:

There is

One great society alone on earth:

The noble Living and the noble Dead of America.²⁵

- On American Patriotism and freedom: In spite of difference of soil and climate, of language and manners, of laws and customs in spite of things silently gone out of mind, and things violently destroyed, the American Patriot binds together by passion and knowledge the vast empire of human freedom, as it is spread over the whole earth, and over all time.²⁶
- On RINOs (Republicans In Name Only): Something between a hindrance and a help.²⁷
- On the American Declaration of Independence and the Constitution: Choice word and measured phrase, above the reach of ordinary men.²⁸

Earth has not anything to show more fair: Dull would he be of soul who could pass by A sight so touching in its majesty.²⁹

On American under Obama and what it once was:

Plain living and high thinking are no more: The homely beauty of the good old cause Is gone; our peace, our fearful innocence, And pure religion breathing household laws.³⁰

Once did she hold the gorgeous east in fee: And was the safeguard of the west.³¹

Founding Fathers shouldst be living at this hour: America hath need of thee: she is a fen Of stagnant waters.³²

²³ Lines Composed a Few Miles from Tintern Abbey, 1798, line 88.

²⁴ The Prelude, 1799-1805, book 1, line 340.

²⁵ Ibid., book XI, line3393.

²⁶ Lyrical Ballads, 1800, Preface.

²⁷ Michael, 1800, line 189.

²⁸ Resolution and Independence, 1807, stanza 14.

²⁹ Composed upon Westminster Bridge, September 3, 1802, line 7.

³⁰ Written in London, September 1802.

³¹ On the Extinction of the Venetian Republic, 1807, line 1

America, thy soul was once like a star, ...
Thou hadst a voice whose sound was like the sea:
Pure as the naked heavens, majestic, free,
So didst thou travel on life's common way,
In cheerful godliness.³³

We must be free or die, who speak the tongue of liberty, the faith and morals hold which the Founding Fathers held.³⁴

There was a time when meadow, grove, and stream, The earth and every common sight,

To me did seem

Appareled in celestial light,

The glory and the freshness of the dream.

It is not now as it hath been of yore -

Turn wheresoe'er I may,

By night or day,

The things which I have seen I now can see no more. 35

America was a glorious birth; But yet I know, where'er I go, That there hath passed away a glory from the earth.³⁶

Whither is fled the visionary gleam? Where is it now, the glory and the dream?³⁷

The clouds that gather round the setting sun Do take a sober coloring from an eye That hath kept watch o'er man's mortality³⁸

America was a phantom of delight When first she gleamed upon earth's sight; A lovely apparition, sent To be a moment's ornament.³⁹

America – a perfect woman, nobly planned, To warn, to comfort, and command. And yet a Spirit still, and bright With something of angelic light. Is now no more.⁴⁰

A power is passing from the earth.⁴¹

³⁴ It Is Not To Be Thought Of, 1807, line 11.

³² London, 1802, line 1.

³³ Ibid., line 9.

³⁵ Ode. Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood, 1807, stanza 1.

³⁶ Ibid., stanza 2.

³⁷ Ibid., stanza 4.

³⁸ Ibid., stanza 11.

³⁹ She Was a Phantom of Delight, 1807, stanza 1.

⁴⁰ Ibid., stanza 3.

9. Sir Walter Scott (1771-1832)

Sir Walter Scott, 1st Baronet was a Scottish historical novelist, playwright, and poet He was the first English author after Shakespeare to gain world-wide fame during his lifetime. Some of Scott's famous tales are Ivanhoe, Rob Roy, The Lady of the Lake, Waverley, The Heart of Midlothian, and The Bride of Lammermoor. After WWI President Woodrow Wilson attempted to introduce the teaching of being a patriot in American elementary schools and high schools by using the patriotic works of Sir Walter Scott transferred to the American culture.

- On Obama's body servant: The unpremeditated lay.⁴²
- On the American Patriot: Steady of heart, and stout of hand. 43
- On Obama telling the truth: I cannot tell how the truth may be;
 I say the tale as 'twas said to me.⁴⁴
- On the anti-American Obama: Breathes there the man, with soul so dead'

Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land!
Whose heart hath ne'er within him burn'd
As home his footsteps he hath turn'd
From wandering on a foreign strand!
If such there breathe, go' mark him well;
For him no patriotic raptures swell;
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim;
Despite those titles, power, and pelf,
The wretch, concentered all in self,
Living, shall forfeit fair renown,
And, doubly dying, shall go down
To the vile dust, from whence he sprung'
Unwept, unhonor'd, and unsung.⁴⁵

- On what Obama is not: A mother's pride, a father's joy. 46
- To Obama on ObamaCare: It's no fish ye're buying, it's men's lives.⁴⁷
- Solace to American Patriots: There's a gude time coming. 48
- Advice to American Patriots: Rouse the lion from his lair. 49

⁴¹ Lines on the Expected Dissolution of Mr. Fox, 1807, stanza 5.

⁴² The Lay of the Last Minstrel, 1805, Introduction.

⁴³ Ibid., canto I, stanza 21

⁴⁴ Ibid., canto II, stanza 22.

⁴⁵ Ibid., canto VI, stanza 1.

⁴⁶ Rokeby, 1813, canto III, stanza 15.

⁴⁷ The Antiquary, 1816, chapter 11.

⁴⁸ Rob Roy, 1817, chapter 32.

⁴⁹ The Talisman, 1825, heading of chapter 6.

10. Sydney Smith (1771-1845)

Sydney Smith was an Anglican cleric and English writer. He is famous for his statement. "In the four quarters of the globe, who reads an American book? Or goes to an American play? or looks at an American picture or statue? What does the world yet owe to American physicians or surgeons? What new substances have their chemists discovered? Or what old ones have they advanced? What new constellations have been discovered by the telescopes of Americans? Who drinks out of American glasses? Or eats from American plates? Or wears American coats or gowns? or sleeps in American blankets?" Finally, under which of the old tyrannical governments of Europe is every sixth man a slave, whom his fellow-creatures may buy and sell and torture? His writings include 1809. Sermons in two volumes, 1839. The Ballot, 1845. A Fragment on the Irish Roman Catholic Church, 1846. Sermons at St Paul's ..., 1956. The Selected Writings of Sydney Smith, ed. with an introduction by W. H. Auden.

- A description of POLDS: If you choose to represent the various parts in life by holes upon a table, of different shapes – some circular, some triangular, some square, some oblong – and the POLDS acting these parts by bits of wood of similar shapes, we shall ... find that the circular POLD has jammed himself into the oblong hole, the triangular POLD has got into the square hole, the oblong POLD into the triangular, and a square POLD has squeezed himself into the round hole.⁵⁰
- Estimation of Obama: Not body enough to cover his mind decently with; his intellect is improperly exposed.⁵¹

He has spent all his life in letting down empty buckets into empty wells; and he frittering away his age in trying to draw them up again. 52

He is a one-book man. Some men have only one book in them; others a library.⁵³

 $\it He$ is like a book in breeches. ... He has occasional flashes of silence, that make his conversation perfectly delightful. 54

Let onion atoms lurk within his bowel And, scarce suspected, animate the whole.⁵⁵

What he doesn't know would make a great book.⁵⁶

- Estimation of Michelle: She strikes me much like a steam engine in clothes.⁵⁷

⁵⁰ Sketches of Moral Philosophy, 1850.

⁵¹ Lady Holland's Memoir, 1855, volume 1, chapter 9.

⁵² Ibid.

⁵³ Ibid., 11.

⁵⁴ Ibid.

⁵⁵ Ibid, Recipe for Salad.

⁵⁶ Ibid., 11.

11. Samuel Taylor Coleridge (1772-1834)

Samuel Taylor Coleridge, English poet, literary critic, and philosopher and his friend William Wordsworth founded the Romantic Movement. His most famous poems are The Rime of the Ancient Mariner and Kubla Khan. His important prose work is Biographia Literaria. His critique of Shakespeare, was very influential. It introduced German idealist philosophy to English-speaking culture. Coleridge coined many important words and phrases in the English language, among them suspension of disbelief. He influenced Ralph Waldo Emerson and American transcendentalism.

- To American Patriots: God save thee, ancient Patriot!

From the fiends, that plague thee thus!-Why look'st thou so? – With my crossbow

I shot the Obamaboss.⁵⁸

 Thoughts of American Patriots under Obama and POLDS: Freedom, Freedom, nowhere, Only Kool-Aid to drink!⁵⁹

> The very deep did rot: O Christ! That ever this should be! Yea, slimy things did crawl with legs Upon the slimy sea.⁶⁰

Alone, alone, all, all alone; Alone on a wide, wide sea.⁶¹

Is this the hill? is this the kirk? Is this mine own countree?⁶²

"Ha! ha!" quoth he, "full plain I see, The Devil knows how to row."⁶³

Every reform, however necessary, will by weak minds be carried to an excess, that itself will need reforming.⁶⁴

- Description of Michelle: Her muscled limbs did she undress,

And lay down in her ugliness.65

A sight not to dream of, not to tell!⁶⁶

⁵⁷ Ibid., 9. The original is: Daniel Webster struck me much like a steam engine in trousers.

⁵⁸ The Rime of the Ancient Mariner, 1798, part 1, stanza 20.

⁵⁹ Ibid., stanza 9.

⁶⁰ Ibid., stanza 10.

⁶¹ Ibid., IV, stanza 3.

⁶² Ibid. VI, stanza 14.

⁶³ Ibid., VII, stanza 12.

⁶⁴ Biographia Literaria, 1817, chapter 1.

⁶⁵ Christabel, 1797-1800, part 1, line 237.

⁶⁶ Ibid., line 252.

A savage place! as *un*holy and *dis*enchanted As e'er beneath a waning moon was haunted By woman wailing for her demon-lover!⁶⁷

On Obama's speeches: The last speech, like all the others, the motive-hunting of a motiveless malignity – how awful.⁶⁸

12. Josiah Quincy III. (1772-1864)

Josiah Quincy III, U.S. educator and political figure, was a member of the U.S. House of Representatives (1805-1813), Mayor of Boston (1823-1828), and President of Harvard University (1829-1845). The historic Quincy Market in Boston named after him.

On the Electoral College re-electing Obama in December 2012: If this re-election passes, I am compelled to declare it as my deliberate opinion that the bonds of this Union are virtually dissolved; that the States which compose it are free from their moral obligations; and that, as it will be the right of all, so it will be the duty of some, to prepare definitely for a separation amicably if they can; violently if they must. 69

13. William Barnes Rhodes (1772-1826)

A collector of dramatic literature, the chief teller of the Bank of England, and English author, William Barnes Rhodes is best known for his burlesque opera, Bombastes Furioso. In 1801, Rhodes published a translation of Juvenal's Satires into English verse.

An exchange between Obama and an American Patriot:

I am a lion from Kenya's burning shore Obama:

A hungry lion I give a grievous roar:

The grievous roar echoes across the land.

American Patriot: So I have heard from Kenva's burning shore

That a pussy-cat gives a grievous roar,

And this lion thinks the pussy-cat's a bore. 70

14. David Ricardo (1772-1823)

A British businessman, financier, speculator, stock trader, political economist, and member of Parliament, David Ricardo is credited with systematizing economics. The law of comparative advantage, which in favor of free trade among countries and of ⁶⁷ Kubla Khan, 1798.

⁶⁸ Notes on Shakespeare, ca. 1812. Coleridge is referring to lago's soliloguy.

⁶⁹ Speech in the House of Representatives on the admission of Orleans Territory as a state, January 14, 1811.

⁷⁰ Bombastes Furioso, 1810, act I, scene iv.

specialization among individuals, is his most important contribution to economics. The economic law states that as long as each trading party concentrates on its respective relative productivity advantages, there will be mutual benefits.

On what Obama does not know about basic economics: Labor, like all other things which are purchased and sold, and which may be increased or diminished in quantity, has its natural and its market price. The natural price of labor is that price which is necessary to enable the laborers, one with another, to subsist and perpetuate their race, without either increase or diminution.⁷¹ There is no way of keeping profits up but by keeping wages down.⁷²

15. William Henry Harrison (1773-1841)

William Henry Harrison, American military officer and politician, was the ninth President of the United States (1841). He was the first president to die in office. He was 68 years, 23 days old when inaugurated Harrison died on his 32nd day in office of from pneumonia that he had contacted when he gave his inaugural address. His death caused the presidential succession crisis until passage of the 25th Amendment, February 23, 1967.

 On what Obama does not know about government: We admit of no government by dictatorship ... the only legitimate right to govern is an express grant of power from the governed.⁷³

A decent and manly examination of the acts of government should be not only tolerated, but encouraged.⁷⁴

16. John Randolph (1773-1833)

John Randolph (John Randolph of Roanoke), planter and Congressman from Virginia in the U.S. House of Representatives at various times between 1799 and 1833, the Senate (1825–1827). He was also Minister to Russia (1830). His politics were states' rights oriented. He supported the Principles of '98, which argued that central government laws and decrees could be judged on their constitutionality by the individual states and if found unconstitutional, the stated could refuse to enforce the federal laws.

- Advice to American Patriots: The surest way to prevent war is not to fear it. 75
- On Obama's fraud re-election in 2012: Never were abilities so much below mediocrity so well rewarded; no, not when Caligula's horse was made Consul.⁷⁶

⁷¹ On the Principles of Political Econopmy and Taxation, 1817, chapter 7.

⁷² On Protection to Agriculture, 1820, section 6.

⁷³ Inugural Address, March 4, 1841.

⁷⁴ Ibid.

⁷⁵ Speech in the House of Representatives, March 5, 1806.

⁷⁶ Speech, February 1, 1828.

 On Obama's character: He is a man of splendid abilities; utterly corrupt. He shines and stinks like rotten mackerel by moonlight.⁷⁷

17. Robert Southey (1774-1843)

The English Romantic poet, a Lake Poet from the Lake District of England, Robert Southey, was Poet Laureate from 1813 to his death in 1843. His fame was surpassed only by his contemporaries William Wordsworth and Samuel Taylor Coleridge.

 On Obama's origin: Curses are like young chickens, they always come home to roost.⁷⁸

The Satanic school.⁷⁹

- On Obama's oratory and rhetoric: The arts babblative and scribblative.80
- On Obama's politics: The march of intellect in reverse.⁸¹
 - On Obama's daily routine: From his brimstone bed, at break of day, A-walking the Devil is gone,
 To look it his little snug farm of the world'
 And see how his stock went on.⁸²

His coat was red, and his breeches were blue, And there was a hole where his tail came through.⁸³

18. Jane Austen (1775-1817)

Jane Austen, English novelist of romantic-landed-gentry fiction based on realism and biting social commentary, is one of the most widely read writers in English literature. She is buried in Winchester Cathedral.

- On Obama's government spending: It is a truth universally acknowledged, that a usurper in possession of a good fortune, must have stolen it from the taxpayers.⁸⁴
- On Michelle's character: She was a woman of mean understanding, little information, and uncertain temper.⁸⁵

⁷⁷ John Randolph of Virginia by W. Cabell Bruce, 1923, vol. II, p. 197.

⁷⁸ The Curse of Kehma, 1810, Southey's motto.

⁷⁹ Vision of Judgement, 1821, preface.

⁸⁰ Colloquies on the Progress and Prospects of Society, 1829, number 1, point 2.

⁸¹ Ibid., point 14.

⁸² The Devil's Walk, 1830, stanza 1.

⁸³ Ibid., stanza 3.

⁸⁴ Pride and Prejudice, 1813, chapter 1.

⁸⁵ Ibid.

She is constantly restored to her usual querulous serenity.86

- On Barry's relationships: Barry had only to change from Michelle to Reggie and it was soon done – done while Bo was lifting his hind leg!⁸⁷
- Advice to Obama: You have delighted us long enough.⁸⁸
- Barry about himself: I have been a selfish being all my life, in practice, though not in principle.⁸⁹
- One half of my world cannot understand the pleasures of the other. 90
- Mitt Romney after being received by Obama at the White House: It was a delightful visit – perfect, in being much too short.⁹¹

19. Charles Lamb (1775-1834)

The English essayist Charles Lamb is renowned for Essays of Elia and for the children's book Tales from Shakespeare, which he wrote his sister, Mary Lamb (1764–1847).

- A generality on Obama: The man must have a rare recipe for melancholy, who can be dull in the White House. ⁹²
- On Obama being responsive to the citizenry: I have no ear. 93

Sentimentally I am disposed to harmony; but organically I am incapable of a tune. 94

20. Walter Savage Landor (1775-1864)

The English writer and poet Walter Savage Landor composed the prose Imaginary Conversations, and the poem Rose Aylmer. Neither received much positive critical acclaim, although the public liked them very much.

- POLDS about themselves: When we play the fool, how wide

The theatre expands! Beside,

How long the audience sits before us! How many prompters! what a chorus!⁹⁵

⁸⁷ Ibid., 16.

⁸⁶ Ibid., 42.

⁸⁸ lbid., 18.

⁸⁹ Ibid., 58.

⁹⁰ Emma, 1815, chapter 9.

⁹¹ Ibid., 13.

⁹² Letter to Thomas Manning, February 15, 1802.

⁹³ Essays of Elia, 1823, A Chapter on Ears.

⁹⁴ Ibid.

⁹⁵ Plays, 1846, stanza 2.

21. Thomas Campbell (1777-1844)

Thomas Campbell was a Scottish sentimental poet concerning human relationships. He was also one of the founders of the University of London.

 On Obama's hope: Hope, for a season' bade the world hello, And Freedom shriek'd – as America fell!⁹⁶

22. Henry Clay (1777-1852)

Henry Clay, Sr. lawyer, politician and skilled orator, represented Kentucky in the Senate and in the House of Representatives, serving three different terms as Speaker of the United States House of Representatives. He was also Secretary of State from 1825 to 1829. He lost three campaigns for the presidency: 1824, 1832, and 1844.

- On what Obama does not know about republican government:
 Government is a trust, and the officers of the government are trustees; and both the trust and the trustees are created for the benefit of the people.⁹⁷
- On Obama's usurpation of power: The arts of power and its minions are the same in all countries and in all ages. It marks its victim; denounces it; and excites the public odium and the public hatred, to conceal its own abuses and encroachments.⁹⁸
- On the American Constitution: The Constitution (for) the United States was made not merely for the generation that then existed, but for posterity unlimited, undefined, endless, perpetual posterity. 99
- An anti-Obama stance on being president: I would rather be right than be president.¹⁰⁰

23. Lorenzo Dow (1777-1834)

Lorenzo Dow was an American preacher and important figure in the Second Great Awakening (1790-1740s). His autobiography titled History of a Cosmopolite; or the Four Volumes of the Rev. Lorenzo Dow's Journal, concentrated in One, containing his Experience and Travels from Childhood to 1814, in 1854 re-titled The Dealings of God, Man, and the Devil as exemplified in the Life, Experience and Travels of Lorenzo Dow, was second to the Holy Bible as the most sold book in America.

On Obama's support of those who support him: You will be damned if you do. And you will be damned if you don't.¹⁰¹

⁹⁶ Pleasures of Hope, 1799, part I, line 381.

⁹⁷ Speech at Ashland, Kentucky, March 1829.

⁹⁸ Speech in the Senate, March 14, 1834.

⁹⁹ Speech in the Senate, January 29, 1850.

¹⁰⁰ Speech in the Senate, 1850.

¹⁰¹ Reflections on the Love of God.

24. Carl Friedrich Gauss (1777-1855)

Johann Carl Friedrich Gauss was a German mathematician. and physical scientist. His contributions influenced analysis, astronomy, differential geometry, electrostatics, geodesy, geophysics, number theory, optics, and statistics,

- On Michelle: Michelle is the queen of queans. 102

25. Valentine Blacker (1778-1823)

Valentine Blacker was a lieutenant colonel in the East India Company and Surveyor General of India.

- Advice to American Patriots: Put your trust in God, my boys, and keep your powder dry!¹⁰³

26. Henry Peter Brougham, Baron Brougham and Vaux (1778-1868)

Henry Peter Brougham, 1st Baron Brougham and Vaux, a British statesman, was also who became Lord Chancellor of Great Britain 1830-1834.

- Opinion of Americans under Obama: Pursuit of Freedoms under Difficulties. 104

27. William Hazlitt (1778-1830)

William Hazlitt English writer of humanistic essays and literary criticism, was also an art critic, drama critic, social commentator, and philosopher. He was also a painter. He ranks with Samuel Johnson and George Orwell as one of the great critics and essayists of the English language.

- The plight of Americans under Obama: Even in common affairs of life, in love, friendship, and marriage, how little security have we when they trust their happiness in the hands of Obama!
- On POLDS (Progressives, Obots, Leftists, Dumbed-downers): There is not a more mean, stupid, dastardly, pitiful, selfish, spiteful, envious, ungrateful animal than the P'OLDS. It is the greatest of cowards, for it is afraid of itself.¹⁰⁵
- Obama on Liberty: The love of liberty is the love of others; the love of power is the love of myself.
- Obama on his being a hypocrite: I am not a hypocrite in my sleep. 106

¹⁰² From Sartoius von Waltershausen, Gauss zum Gedächtnis, 1856. The original is: Mathematics is the queen of the sciences.

¹⁰³ From Edward Hale, Ballads of Ireland (1856), Oliver's Advice, and Orange Ballad.

¹⁰⁴ Title of a book, 1830, the original being Pursuit of Knowledge Under Difficulties.

¹⁰⁵ Table Talk, 1821-1822, On Living to One's Self.

¹⁰⁶ On Dreams. The original is: We are not hypocrites in our sleep.

28. Stephen Decatur (1779-1820)

Stephen Decatur, Jr. was a United States naval officer and hero He is famous for his many naval victories in the early 19th century, particularly in the War of 1812 and the Barbary Wars.

 What Obama does not understand about patriotism: Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong.¹⁰⁷

29. Francis Scott Key (1779-1843)

Francis Scott Key, American lawyer, author, and amateur poet, from Georgetown, Virginia, wrote the lyrics to The Star-Spangled Banner, the national anthem of the United States of America. United States' national anthem.

Oh, say, can you see by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
Oh, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Blessed with victory and peace, may the Heaven-rescued land Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation. Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just, And this be our motto, "In God is our trust." 109

30. Joseph Story (1779-1845)

Joseph Story, American lawyer and jurist, served on the Supreme Court of the United States from 1811 to 1845. His most famous court opinions are in Martin v. Hunter's Lessee and The Amistad. More so, he has gone down in United States judicial history for his Commentaries on the Constitution of the United States, published in 1833.

On what Obama does not understand about constitutional law: [The constitutional law] is a jealous mistress, and requires a long and constant courtship. It is not to be won by trifling favors, but by lavish homage.¹¹⁰

¹⁰⁷ Toast given at Norfolk, April 1816.

¹⁰⁸ The Star-Spangled Banner, September 14, 1814.

¹⁰⁹ Ibid., stanza 4.

¹¹⁰ The Value and Importance of Legal Studies, August 5, 1829.

31. William Ellery Channing (1780-1842)

Dr. William Ellery Channing, during his day was the most recognized Unitarian preacher in the United States. His religion and thought were among the chief influences on the New England Transcendentalists, although he never belonged to their intellectual circle.

- An American Patriot on Freedom: I call that mind free which jealously guards its intellectual rights and Powers, which calls no man master, which does not content itself with a passive or hereditary faith, which opens itself to light whencesoever it may come, which receives new truth as an angel from Heaven.¹¹¹

32. Frances Trollope (1780-1863)

Frances Milton Trollope, English novelist and writer, wrote Domestic Manners of the Americans (1832), novels on anti-slavery, the first industrial novel, and anti-Catholic novels.

On the Obamas: Let no one who wishes to receive agreeable impressions of American manners, commence their travels in the company of the Obamas. 112

33. Ebenezer Elliott (1781-1849)

Ebenezer Elliott was an English poet, who became famous for rhymes on the English Corn Laws, trade laws that protected cereal producers in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland against competition from cheaper foreign imports.

- Wish for America under Obama: God save the people!¹¹³
- Definition of a POLD: What is a POLD? One who hath yearnings For equal division of unequal earnings. 114

34. John Caldwell Calhoun (1782-1850)

John Caldwell Calhoun, American politician and political theorist from South Carolina, was an eloquent speaker initially on strong national government, protective tariffs yet, after 1830 on free trade, limited government, nullification, and states' rights. He defended slavery and led the South toward secession from the Union.

- What Obama does not know about government: The very essence of a free government consists in considering offices as public trusts, bestowed for the good of the country, and not for the benefit of an individual or a party. 115

¹¹¹ Spiritual Freedom.

Domestic Manners of the Americans, 1832. The ending is: in a Mississippi steamboat.

¹¹³ Corn Law Rhymes, 1828, When Wilt Thou Save the People? Stanza 1.

¹¹⁴ Poetical Works, 1846, Epigram.

¹¹⁵ Speech, February 13, 1835.

 Message to the American people: A power has risen up in the government greater than the people themselves, consisting of many and various and powerful interests, combined into one mass, and held together by the cohesive power of the vast surplus in the banks.¹¹⁶

35. Thomas H. Palmer (1782-1861)

Thomas H. Palmer was an American educator and author of The Teacher's Manual: being an exposition of an efficient and economical system of education, suited to the wants of a free people (1840).

 Advice to American Patriots after the 2012 elections: Tis a lesson you should heed, Try, try again. If at first you don't succeed, Try, try again. 117

36. Daniel Webster (1782-1852)

Daniel Webster, American statesman and senator from Massachusetts during the period leading up to the Civil War, was a defender of New England shipping interests and nationalistic opinions. A conservative, he opposed Andrew Jackson and the Democratic Party. In his 40 years in national politics, Webster served in the House of Representatives for 10 years (New Hampshire), in the Senate for 19 years (Massachusetts), and was appointed the Secretary of State under Millard Fillmore, William Henry Harrison, and John Tyler..

- On Christianity and citizenship: Whatever makes men good Christians, makes them good citizens.¹¹⁸
- On anti-socialism/communism: Labor in this country is independent and proud.
 It has not to ask the patronage of capital, but capital solicits the aid of labor.¹¹⁹
- On a memorial to liberty: We wish that this column, rising towards heaven among the pointed spires of so many temples dedicated to God, may contribute also to produce in all minds a pious feeling of dependence and gratitude. We wish, finally, that the last object to the sight of him who leaves his native shore, and the first to gladden his who revisits it, may be something which shall remind him of the liberty and the glory of his country.¹²⁰
- On independence: It is my living sentiment, and by the blessing of God it shall be dying sentiment Independence now and Independence forever. 121
- On the illogic of a national debt: The gentleman has not seen how to reply-to this, otherwise than by supposing me to have advanced the doctrine that a national debt is a national blessing.¹²²

¹¹⁶ Speech, May 27, 1836.

¹¹⁷ Teacher's Manual, 1840.

¹¹⁸ Speech at Plymouth, Massachusetts, December 22, 1820.

¹¹⁹ Speech, April 2, 1824.

¹²⁰ Address on Laying the Cornerstone of the Bunker Hill Monument, June 17, 1825.

¹²¹ Ibid.

- What Obama does not know about government: The people's government, made for the people, made by the people, and answerable to the people. 123
- On real hope for America: When my eyes shall be turned to behold for the last time the sun in heaven, may I not see him shining on the broken and dishonored fragments of a once glorious Union; on States dissevered, discordant belligerent; on a land rent with civil feuds, or drenched, it may be, in fraternal blood. 124
- What the POLDS hate: Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable. 125
- On liberty: God grants liberty only to those who love it, and are always ready to guard and defend it.¹²⁶

One country, one constitution, one destiny. 127

- On why Obama must not collectivize farm: When tillage begins, other arts follow. The farmers therefore are the founders of human civilization. 128
- Reason to respect America: America has furnished to the world the character of Washington. And if our American institutions had done nothing else, that alone would have entitled them to the respect of mankind.¹²⁹
- On what Obama will never do: The law: It has honored us; may we honor it. 130

Second Speech on Foot's Resolution, January 26, 1830. Senator Foot misrepresented the opinion of Daniel Webster. "Senator Samuel Augustus Foot of Connecticut proposed in late 1829, that the committee on public lands study the possibility of limiting the sale of western lands (the Foot Resolution). This seemingly innocuous suggestion laid bare some basic regional tensions. Foot represented the New England view that cheap land encouraged westward migration, which robbed the factories of a captive labor supply. The Democrats in the West opposed the resolution since they favored cheap land in their region. The states' rights forces in the South took advantage of this situation and tried to forge an alliance with the West, hoping that this would lead to reworking such issues as the tariff. Debate on this matter continued over a number of weeks and changed from a discussion of land policy into a debate about the nature of the Union. Other characters entered the argument, most notably Daniel Webster of Massachusetts and Robert Young Hayne of South Carolina. What followed, the Webster Hayne debate, was one of the most famous exchanges in Senate history. On January 19, 1830, Hayne attacked the Foot Resolution and labeled the Northeasterners as selfish and unprincipled for their support of protectionism and conservative land policies. The next day, Webster broadened the debate by examining the Southern positions on states' rights in general their lack of appreciation for the union. Hayne again spoke, this time asserting the doctrine of state sovereignty and nullification. Webster replied again on January 26 and 27. He eloquently denounced the idea of state sovereignty and endorsed the idea of national supremacy. Webster concluded his second reply with the words, "Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable!" Source: http://www.u-s-history.com/pages/h330.html.

¹²³ Ibid.

¹²⁴ Ibid.

¹²⁵ Ibid.

¹²⁶ Speech, May 7, 1834.

¹²⁷ Speech, March 15, 1837.

¹²⁸ On Agriculture, January 13, 1840.

¹²⁹ On Completion of the Bunker Hill Monument, June 17, 1843.

¹³⁰ Speech at the Charleston Bar Dinner, May 10, 1847.

- Motto of an American Patriot: I was born an American; I will live an American; I shall die an American. ¹³¹

It is surety that had more Americans read what the historical personalities have to say about Barack Hussein Obama and his POLDS (Progressives, Obots, Leftists, and Dumbed-downers), and had the American Republican voters not stayed home on election day, November 6, 2012, Barack Hussein Obama might have been defeated, although it is difficult to win an election against the government free stuff offered by Barack Hussein Obama and the Democratic Party. Additionally, there would still have been mountains of voter fraud to overcome. Another contributing factor to Mitt Romney's defeat is the fact that the Republican Party is too concerned with being politically correct. Political correctness is a form of lying. The Republicans who opposed Barack Hussein Obama – not all of them do oppose him, particularly the RINOS (Republicans In Name Only) – should have taken to heart the occasions to expose Barack Hussein Obama' evil politics. They should still make his political life as difficult as possible for him. One slight possibility to get rid of the thug Barack Hussein Obama is for the Republican Electors to refuse to cast their vote in the Electoral College in Congress on January 6, 2013. This is a legal method to get rid of him. Read the important and revealing article at:

http://www.wnd.com/2012/11/how-obama-can-be-stopped-in-electoral-college/

However, I personally do not think that there are enough Republican states with political backbone! The Republican Party, the once true home of conservativism, has become a wash cloth without cleansing soap and cleansing water! It is about time they confronted the enemedia and Barack Hussein Obama with oratorical brass knuckles. Down with political correctness! Attack Barack Hussein Obama and call the enemedia and Barack Hussein Obama a liar every chance there is.

The proof that Barack Hussein Obama is a criminal who has committed felonies is at http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=sFCs8vaZ2s4&feature=player_embedded#! All that needs to be done is to put him in handcuffs and behind bars for the rest of his life. Yet, this will not happen either because there are no longer persons in power who have patriotic guts and spines. America has become a once was country.

Frederick William Dame Patriotic, Steadfast, and True

January 3, 2013.

_

¹³¹ Speech, July 17, 1850.