1. Ralph Waldo Emerson (1801-1882)

The American essayist, lecturer, poet and seer was the leader of the American Transcendentalist Movement in the mid-19th century. A champion of individualism and critic of the pressures caused by government and society, Ralph Waldo Emerson gave more than 1,500 lectures throughout the United States. Emerson's most famous expression of transcendentalism was penned in his essay, Nature (1836). In 1837 he formulated America's intellectual declaration of independence in The American Scholar. Emerson's essays were written as lectures and later revised for printing. In 1841 he published Essays: Third and Fourth Series and in 1844 Essays: Second Series. They contain the highly estimated essays Self-Reliance, The Over-Soul, Circles, The Poet, and Experience. Collectively, his works develop ideas on individualism, freedom and the relationship between the soul and the world.

- On Obama going to Hell: Good-bye, proud world! I'm going home;
Thou art not my friend and I'm not thine.<sup>1</sup>

Announced by all the trumpets of the sky,
Obama will be sent off to Hell!<sup>2</sup>

Enclosed / In a tumultuous privacy of storm.<sup>3</sup>

Where things are of the snake.<sup>4</sup>

- On Obama's governing: He is in the saddle and rides Americans.<sup>5</sup>
- Patriotic lines: By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood,
And fired the shots heard round the world.<sup>6</sup>

- Call to American Patriots: God said, I am tired of kings,
I suffer them no more;
Up to my ear the morning brings
The outrage of the poor.<sup>7</sup>
Today unbind the captive,
So only are ye unbound;
Lift up a people from the dust,
Trump of their rescue, sound!<sup>8</sup>

So nigh is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man,
When Duty whispers low, Thou must,
American Patriots reply We have a plan.<sup>9</sup>

Wilt thou seal up the avenues of ill?
Pay every debt, as if God wrote the bill.<sup>10</sup>
- On why Obama is an evil dwarf: I think no virtue goes with size.<sup>11</sup>
- On Obama's hypocrisy: Daughters of Time, the hypocritic Days,
Muffled and dumb like barefoot dervishes,
And marching single in an endless file,
Bring diadems and fagots in their hands.<sup>12</sup>
- An American Patriotic Thought: If the red slayer think he slays,
Or if the slain think he is slain,
They know not well the subtle ways
I keep, and pass, and turn again.<sup>13</sup>
- On Obama's POLDS: Snakes gliding up and down a hollow for no purpose that I could see – nor to eat, nor for love, but only gliding.<sup>14</sup>
- Satan to Obama: You shall have joy and you shall have power. Your subjects will have neither.<sup>15</sup>
- An ironic critique of Obama: Blessed are those who have no talent!<sup>16</sup>
- Obama on liberty: The word liberty in the mouth of Obama sounds like the word
death in the mouth of Lucifer.<sup>17</sup>

- On the greatness of American capitalism: I trust a good deal to common fame, as we all must. If a man has good corn, or wood, or boards, or pigs, to sell, or can make better chairs or knives, crucibles or church organs, than anybody else, you can find a broad hard-beaten road to his house, though it be in the woods.<sup>18</sup>
- An American Patriot's answer to progressivism: Standing on the bare ground ... all mean egotism vanishes. I become a transparent eyeball; I am nothing; I see all; the currents of the Universal Being circulate through me; I am part or particle of God.<sup>19</sup>
- On what Obama is not or does not have: The scholar is the delegated intellect. In the right state he is Man Thinking.<sup>20</sup>
Character is higher than intellect.<sup>21</sup>
- On freedom of speech: If utterance is denied, the thought lies like a burden on the man. Always the seer is a sayer.<sup>22</sup>
- On Obama's speeches: It is the fault of his rhetoric that he cannot strongly state one fact without seeming to belie some other.<sup>23</sup>
I like the silence ... before the preaching begins.<sup>24</sup>
- On Obama's political consistency: A foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds, adored by little statesmen and philosophers and divines. With consistency a great soul has simply nothing to do.<sup>25</sup>
- On Obama's character: Discontent is the want of self-reliance: it is infirmity of will.<sup>26</sup>
- On POLDS: Two may talk and one may hear, but POLDS cannot take part in a conversation of the most sincere and searching sort.<sup>27</sup>
- To American Patriots: Heroism feels and never reasons and therefore is always right.<sup>28</sup>

- On the argumentation of POLDS: There is always a certain meanness in the argument of POLDS, joined with a certain stupidity.<sup>30</sup>
- On government: The less government we have, the better – the fewer laws and the less confided power.<sup>31</sup>
- Humankind's connection to God: Self-reliance, the height and perfection of a person, is reliance on God.<sup>32</sup>
- On why America and Americans are great: Great men, great nations, have not been boasters and buffoons, but perceivers of the terror of life, and have manned themselves to face it.<sup>33</sup>
- On Michelle: No beauty and no grace, a hooker without bait.<sup>34</sup>
- The Obama years: The key to the period appeared to be that the mind had become aware of itself. The young POLDS were born with knives in their brain, a tendency to introversion, self-dissection, anatomizing of motives.<sup>35</sup>
- On the decline of American civilization under Obama: The true test of civilization is, not the census, nor the size of cities, nor the crops – no, but the kind of man the country turns out.<sup>36</sup>
- A definition of Obama: A mollusk is a cheap edition [of Obama] with a suppression of the costlier illustrations, designed for dingy circulation, for shelving in an oyster-bank or among the seaweed.<sup>37</sup>
- On Obama's thoughts: All the thoughts of a turtle are turtles, and of a rabbit, Rabbits, and of Obama, Obama.<sup>38</sup>
- On getting rid of Obama: When you strike at a self-appointed king, you must kill him.<sup>39</sup>

2. Douglas Jerrold (1803-1857)

Douglas William Jerrold was an English dramatist and writer who had a great reputation as a brilliant wit in conversation. Although a popular dramatist, his plays have not survived on stage. His contribution to the English theater was that he stopped the vogue of translating French drama into English to be performed on the stage and placed on indigenous English plays.

4. Födor Tyutchev (1803-1873)

Fyodor Ivanovich Tyutchev is the last of three great Romantic poets of Russia, after Alexander Pushkin and Mikhail Lermontov. Even today Tyutchev is one of the most memorized and quoted Russian poets. Silentium (1830) is his most famous poem in Russian and in English translation.

- On Obama's speeches: A thought, once uttered, is a lie.<sup>44</sup>

5. Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield (1804-1881)

Benjamin Disraeli, 1st Earl of Beaconsfield, was a British Prime Minister, parliamentarian, Conservative statesman and well-known author. In forty years government he served twice as Prime Minister of Great Britain and three times as Chancellor of the Exchequer. Disraeli was behind the creation of the modern Conservative Party after the Corn Laws schism of 1846.

- Obama to his body servant: Every woman should marry ... and no man.<sup>52</sup>
- On Obama's constant complaining: How much easier it is to complain than to be correct.<sup>53</sup>

You know who the critics are? The men who have failed ... .<sup>54</sup>

- Obama on persons he likes: My idea of an agreeable person is a person who agrees with me, until I have to throw him under the bus.<sup>55</sup>
- On Obama's character: A sophisticated rhetorician, inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity, and gifted with an egotistical imagination that can at all times command an interminable and inconsistent series of arguments to malign an opponent and to glorify himself.<sup>56</sup>

The harebrained chatter of irresponsible frivolity.<sup>57</sup>

6. Paul Gavarni [Sulpice Guillaume Chevalier] (1804-1856)

Paul Gavarni was the nom de plume of the French caricaturist Sulpice Guillaume Chevalier. His learned profession was an engineer's draughtsman. Unsatisfied with this work, he changed his vocation to cartoonist.

7. Nathaniel Hawthorne (1804-1864)

Nathaniel Hawthorne, born Nathaniel Hawthorne, was an American diplomat, surveyor, novelist, and short story writer. He is famous for his gothic atmospheres, Christian symbolism and ethics.

- Message to Conservatives: By the sympathy of your human hearts for sin ye shall scent out all the places – whether in church bedchamber, street, field, or forest – where crime has been committed, and shall exult to behold the whole earth one stain of guilt, one mighty blood spot.<sup>59</sup>
- On the evil of liberalism obamaism, and progressivism: As the moral gloom of the lop world overpowers all systematic gaiety, even so was the home of republican mirth made desolate amid the sad lop forest.<sup>60</sup>
- On Michelle's dress: On the breast of her gown, in fine red cloth, surrounded with an elaborate embroidery and fantastic flourishes of gold thread, appeared the letter A for asinine.<sup>61</sup>
- On the attitudes of POLDS: There is a fatality, a feeling so irresistible and inevitable that it has the force of doom, which almost invariably compels human beings to linger around and haunt, ghostlike, the spot where some great and marked event has given the color to their lifetime; and still the more irresistibly, the darker the tinge that saddens it.<sup>62</sup>
- Michelle to Barack on their committing treason: What we did had a consecration of its own.<sup>63</sup>
- On Obama's legacy: a moral – the truth, namely, that the wrongdoing of one generation lives into the successive ones.<sup>64</sup>
- The Devil's reward to Obama: Satan will give him American blood to drink.<sup>65</sup>
- On Obama's life: Life is made up of marble and Obama's is mud.<sup>66</sup>

8. George Sand [Amandine Aurore Lucile Dupin, Baronness Dudevant] (1804-1876)

Amandine, also Amantine, Lucile Aurore Dupin Baroness Dudevant is best known by her pseudonym George Sand. She was a French novelist and memoirist.

- On Obama's life: We cannot tear out a single page of his life, but we can throw the whole book in the fire.<sup>69</sup>
- On socialism/communism: Socialism/communism degrades those who receive it and hardens those who dispense it.<sup>70</sup>
- Admonishment to the United States Supreme Court: The whole secret of the study of constitutional law lies in learning how to use one's brain in accordance with the principles of the Founding Fathers.<sup>71</sup>

9. Sarah Flower Adams (1805-1848)

Sarah Flower Adams was an English poet of the Unitarian faith. She wrote several hymns, among which are Nearer, my God, to Thee and He sendeth sun, He sendeth shower. Her longest work is Vivia Perpetua, A Dramatic Poem (1841), the subject of which is the life of the early Christians.

- What American Patriots must not forget:
 E'en though it be a cross
 That raiseth me;
 Still all my song would be,
 Nearer, My God, to Thee,
 Nearer, My God, to Thee,
 Nearer to Thee.<sup>72</sup>

10. Hans Christian Andersen (1805-1875)

Hans Christian Andersen, particularly in Scandinavia H. C. Andersen, was a Danish author of plays, travelogues, novels, and poems. He is world famous for his fairy tales, a literary genre called eventyr, or fantastic tales.

- On Obama's wardrobe: The Emperor's New Clothes.<sup>74</sup>
"But he hasn't got anything on," a little child said.<sup>75</sup>

11. William Lloyd Garrison (1805-1879)

William Lloyd Garrison was a leading American abolitionist, journalist, and social reformer. He was the editor of the abolitionist newspaper The Liberator, and a founder of the American Anti-Slavery Society. He argued for the immediate emancipation of slaves in the United States. Later he became active in the American women's suffrage movement.

- On America: Our country is the world-our countrymen are all mankind.<sup>76</sup>
- Principles of an American Patriot contra Obama: I will be as harsh as truth and as uncompromising as justice. On this subject I do not wish to think, or speak, or write, with moderation. No! No! Tell a man whose house is on fire to give a moderate alarm; tell him to moderately rescue his wife from the hands of the ravisher; tell the mother to gradually extricate her babe from the fire into which it has fallen; but urge me not to use moderation.<sup>77</sup>

I am in earnest – I will not equivocate – will not excuse – I will not retreat a single inch; and I will be heard!<sup>78</sup>

With reasonable men, I will reason; with humane men I will plead; but to tyrants I will give no quarter, nor waste arguments where they will certainly be lost.<sup>79</sup>

You cannot possibly have a broader basis for any government than that which includes all the people, with all their rights in their hands, and with an equal power to maintain their rights.<sup>80</sup>

- On Obama's election and re-election: The compact which exists between the electorate and Obama is a covenant with death and an agreement with hell.<sup>81</sup>

12. Sidney Sherman (1805-1873)

Born in Marlboro, Massachusetts, Sidney Sherman became a general and a key leader in the Texas Army during the Texas Revolution. After the revolution he became a member of the Texas House of Representatives, from Harris County, Seventh Congress, November 4, 1842, to January 17, 1843. At the request of the Committee of Safety of the Confederacy Sherman took full charge of affairs at Galveston, Texas during the American Civil War.

- Battle cry against Obama and his regime: Remember the Alamo!<sup>82</sup>

13. Alexis de Tocqueville (1805-1859)

Alexis-Charles-Henri Clérel de Tocqueville French political thinker and historian is best known for his work Democracy in America that appeared in two volumes: 1835 and 1840) and The Old Regime and the Revolution that appeared in 1856. In both he presented an analysis of the the rising living standards and social conditions of individuals, their relationship to the market and to the state. Democracy in America is one of the first works of modern political science and sociology.

- On the status of American courts of law before the coming of Obama: Within these limits the power vested in the American courts of justice of pronouncing a statute to be unconstitutional forms one of the most powerful barriers that have ever been devised against the tyranny of political assemblies.<sup>83</sup>
- On Americans and their freedoms before the coming of Obama: I have never been more struck by the good sense and the practical judgment of the Americans than in the manner in which they elude the numberless difficulties resulting from their Federal Constitution.<sup>84</sup>

They [the Americans] have all a lively faith in the perfectibility of man, they judge that the diffusion of knowledge must necessarily be advantageous, and the consequences of ignorance fatal; they all consider society as a body in a state of improvement, humanity as a changing scene, in which nothing is, or ought to be, permanent; and they admit that what appears to them today to be good, may be superseded by something better tomorrow.<sup>85</sup>

America is a land of wonders, in which everything is in constant motion and every change seems an improvement. The idea of novelty is there indissolubly connected with the idea of amelioration.<sup>86</sup> present time two great nations in the world. I allude to the Russians and the Americans. ... Their starting-point is different and their courses are not the same; yet each of them seems marked out by the will of Heaven to sway the destinies of half the globe.<sup>87</sup>

- On negative aspects of democracy under Obama: Democratic nations under Obama care but little for what has been, but they are haunted by visions of what will be; in this direction their unbounded imagination grows and dilates beyond all measure. Democracy, which shuts the past against the poet, opens the future before him.<sup>88</sup>

Thus not only does democracy under Obama make every man forget his ancestors, but it hides his descendants and separates his contemporaries from him; it throws him back forever upon himself alone and threatens in the end to confine him entirely within the solitude of his own ... .<sup>89</sup>

14. Elizabeth Barrett Browning (1806-1851)

Elizabeth Barrett Browning, a most prominent poet of the Victorian era, was very popular in England and the United States.

- On the Obamas: Thou large ... woman and non-hearted man.<sup>90</sup>
- Message to Obama: Your life is perfected by death.<sup>91</sup>
- On Obama's hope and change: I tell you it is passionless grief.<sup>92</sup>
- Barack's body servant to Barack: "Yes," I answered you last night;
"No," this morning, ... I say:

         Down in the reeds by the river?
     Spreading ruin and scattering ban,
     Splashing and paddling with hoofs of a goat,
     And breaking the golden lilies afloat
     With the dragonfly on the river.<sup>97</sup>

15. Friedrich Halm [Baron Eligius Franz Josef von Münch-Bellinghausen] (1806-1871)

Baron Eligius Franz Joseph Freiherr von Münch-Bellinghausen, who went by the name of Friedrich Halm was an Austrian dramatist, poet, and writer of short novels during the Austrian Biedermeier period c. 1815-1848.

- On Obama and his body servant:
     Two souls with but a single thought,
     Two hearts that beat as one.<sup>98</sup>

16. John Stuart Mill (1806-1873)

The British member of Parliament, philosopher, political economist, and civil servant John Stuart Mill contributed immensely to liberal political philosophy, political economy, and social theory in the nineteenth century.

- On the rights of life, liberty, and individuality: The sole end for which mankind are warranted, individually or collectively, in interfering with the liberty of action of any of their number is self-protection.<sup>99</sup>
     If all mankind minus one were of one opinion, and only one person were of the contrary opinion, mankind would be no more justified in silencing that one person than he, if he had the power, would be justified in silencing mankind.<sup>100</sup>

There is no such thing as absolute certainty, but there is assurance sufficient for the purposes of human life.<sup>101</sup>

We can never be sure that the opinion we are endeavoring to stifle is a false opinion; and if we were sure, stifling it would be an evil still.<sup>102</sup>

The liberty of the individual must be thus far limited; he must not make himself a nuisance to other people.<sup>103</sup>

All good things which exist are the fruits of originality.<sup>104</sup>

Whatever crushes individuality is despotism, by whatever name it may be called.<sup>105</sup>

Everyone who receives the protection of society owes a return for the benefit.<sup>106</sup>

The individual is not accountable to society for his actions, insofar as these concern the interests of no person but himself.<sup>107</sup>

The worth of a state, in the long run, is the worth of the individuals composing it.<sup>108</sup>

Liberty consists in doing what one desires.<sup>109</sup>

It is better to be a human being dissatisfied than a pig satisfied; better to be Socrates dissatisfied than a fool satisfied.<sup>110</sup>

- On the bureaucratic exploitation of the taxpayer: Unearned increments.<sup>111</sup>
- On the responsibility of elected officials: Instead of the function of governing, to which it is radically unfit, the proper office of a representative assembly is to watch and control government.<sup>112</sup>
- On utilitarianism which is not Obamaism: The creed which accepts as the foundation of morals Utility, or the Greatest Happiness Principle, holds that actions are right in proportion as they tend to promote happiness, wrong as they tend to produce the reverse of happiness.<sup>113</sup>

The social state is at once so natural, so necessary, and so habitual to man, that he never conceives himself otherwise than as a member of a body.<sup>114</sup>

- American existence under Obama: Ask yourself whether you are happy, and you cease to be so.<sup>115</sup>

17. Johann Bernhard, Graf von Rechberg (1805-1899)

The American lawyer, politician, diplomat and writer Charles Francis Adams, Sr. was the grandson of President John Adams and Abigail Adams and the son of President John Quincy Adams and Louisa Adams.

- Admonition to Obama concerning Syria: It would be superfluous in me to point out to your Lordship that this is war.<sup>117</sup>

19. Giuseppe Garibaldi (1807-1882)

Giuseppe Garibaldi, Italian general and politician, is one of the four fathers of Italy. The other three are Camillo Cavour, Victor Emmanuel II, and Giuseppe Mazzini.

- Obama to his POLDS: I offer neither pay, nor quarters, nor provisions; I offer hunger, thirst, forced marches, battles and death. Let him who loves his me in his heart, and not with his lips only, follow me.<sup>118</sup>

20. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow (1807-1882)

The American professor, poet, and educator Henry Wadsworth Longfellow is famous for authoring among other works, Paul Revere's Ride, The Song of Hiawatha, and Evangeline. He was the first American to translate Dante Alighieri's The Divine Comedy. His poems of mythology and legend are famous for their musicality.

- Obama's ode to joy: Tell me ..., in satanic numbers,
Life is but an empty dream!
For the soul is dead that slumbers,
And things are not what they seem.
Satan is real! Satan is earnest!
And the grave is his goal;
Dust thou art, to dust returnest,
Was ... spoken of the soul.<sup>119</sup>
- Obama on his politics: Art is naught, and Time is fleeting,
And our politics, though evil and satanic,
Still, like muffled drums, are beating
Funeral marches to the grave.<sup>120</sup>

<sup>120</sup> Ibid., stanza 4.

Lives of evil men all remind us
We can make our lives more evil.
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time.<sup>121</sup>

Let us, then, be up and doing,
With evilness for any fate;
Still destroying, still undoing,
Learn to labor and to wait.<sup>122</sup>

- On the American Patriot and America:

Under the spreading chestnut tree
The American Patriot stands;
The Patriot a mighty man is he
With large and sinewy hands.
And the muscles of his brawny arms
Are strong as iron bands.<sup>123</sup>

His brow is wet with honest sweat,
He earns whate'er he can,
And looks the whole world in the face,
For he owes not any man.<sup>124</sup>

Sail on, O Ship of State!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!<sup>125</sup>

Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee-are all with thee!<sup>126</sup>
All your strength is in your union,
All your danger is in discord;
Therefore be at peace henceforward,
And as Patriots live together.<sup>127</sup>

Not in the clamor of the crowded street,
Not in the shouts and plaudits of the throng,
But in ourselves, are triumph and defeat.<sup>128</sup>

Heroic womanhood.<sup>129</sup>

- On the beginning of American liberty:
Listen, my children, and you shall hear,
Of the midnight, ride of Paul Revere,
On the eighteenth of April, in Seventy-five;
Hardly a man is now alive
Who remembers that famous day and year.<sup>130</sup>

One if by land, and two if by sea;
And I on the opposite shore will be,
Ready to ride and spread the alarm
Through every Middlesex village and farm.<sup>131</sup>

The fate of a nation was riding that night.<sup>132</sup>

- On Michelle: There was a grown girl
Who had little curls
Right over all of her head;
And ... she was never good
She was never, never good,
But when she was bad she was horrid.<sup>133</sup>

21. John Greenleaf Whittier (1807-1892)

John Greenleaf Whittier, an influential American Quaker poet, was a fiery advocate of the abolition of slavery in the United States. He was influenced by the Scottish poet Robert Burns. His best remembered poems are Snow-Bound, and The Brewing of Soma, which contains the words of the hymn Dear Lord and Father of Mankind.

- On America under Obama: No fetters in America – no POLDS upon our land!<sup>134</sup>

- On the demise of Obama: So fallen! so lost! the light withdrawn
Which once he wore!
The charlatanry and his being gone
Forevermore!<sup>135</sup>

From those deceiving eyes

<sup>134</sup> Massachusetts to Virginia, 1843, stanza 24.

<sup>135</sup> Ichabod, 1850, stanza 1.

No faith is lost, no honor dies,
The man is dead!<sup>136</sup>

The sun that brief ... day
Rose cheerfully over hills of green,
And, light circled, gave at noon
A brighter light than waning moon.<sup>137</sup>

God is and all is well.<sup>138</sup>

22. Salmon Portland Chase (1808-1873)

American politician and jurist, United States Senator from Ohio and the 23rd Governor of Ohio; United States Treasury Secretary under President Abraham Lincoln; and the sixth Chief Justice of the United States, Salmon Portland Chase was one of the most prominent members of the new Republican Party. Chase desired to destroy the slave power of the South, which he considered was a conspiracy of slave owners to seize control of the federal government and block all advancement of American liberty. He originated the slogan of the Free Soil Party: Free Soil, Free Labor, Free Men.

- On what Obama does not believe in: The Constitution, in all its provisions, looks to an indestructible Union composed of indestructible States.<sup>139</sup>

23. Maurice de MacMahon (1808-1893)

Marshal Marie Esme Patrice Maurice de Mac-Mahon, 1st Duke of Magenta was a French general and politician with the title Marshal of France. He served as Chief of State of France from 1873 to 1875. He was also the first president of the Third Republic, from 1875 to 1879.

- An American Patriot to Obama and his POLDS: Here I am, and here I stay.<sup>140</sup>

24. George Washington Patten (c.1808-1882)

A United States Army Officer, George Washington Patten graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1830. Apparently his major contribution to poetry is his poem Come, Let Us Die Like Men, which was originally published in Voices of the Border; comprising songs of the field, songs of the bower, Indian melodies, and promiscuous poems, Hurd & Houghton, New York: 1867.

- An American Patriot in the struggle against the Obama regime:

<sup>140</sup> At Sevastopol, September 1855.

If we must perish in the fight,
Oh! let us die like men.<sup>141</sup>

25. Samuel Francis Smith (1808-1895)

Samuel Francis Smith, an American Baptist minister, journalist and author, is best known for composing the lyrics to My Country, 'Tis of Thee, also entitled America.

- A Patriot's praise to America: My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing:
Land where my father<sup>142</sup>s died,
Land of the Pilgrims' Pride,
From every mountainside
Let freedom ring.

Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by thy might,
Great God, our King!<sup>143</sup>

26. Charles Robert Darwin (1809-1882)

Charles Robert Darwin was an English naturalist. He established the teaching that all species of life have descended over time from common ancestors. He proposed that evolution is a process he called natural selection causing the struggle for existence.

- On these issues of historical criticism: When the views advanced by the patriotic author below in this volume are generally admitted, we can dimly foresee that there will be a considerable revolution in American history.<sup>144</sup>
- On the origin of Obama: A hairy quadruped, furnished with a tail and pointed ears, probably still arboreal in its habits.<sup>145</sup>

The man has no noble qualities with his satan-like intellect which has penetrated into the movements and constitution of the solar system still bears in his bodily frame the indelible stamp of his lowly origin.<sup>146</sup>

27. Edward FitzGerald (1809-1883)

Edward FitzGerald, English poet and writer, is famous as the first English poet-translator of The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam.

<sup>145</sup> The Descent of Man, 1871, chapter 21.

<sup>146</sup> Ibid.

- On American freedom under Obama: The Leaves of Life keep falling one by one.<sup>147</sup>
- On Obama to his body servant: A Book of Verses underneath the Bough,
A Jug of Wine, a Loaf of Bread-and Thou
Beside me singing in the Wilderness –
Oh, Wilderness were Paradise now!<sup>148</sup>
- On Obama view of economics:
Ah, take the Cash, and ... the Credit to,
Nor heed the rumble of a distant Drum!<sup>149</sup>

Ah, make the most of what we yet may spend,
Before we too into the Hell descend;
Fire into Fire, and under Fire, to be,
With Wine, with Song, with Singer, and – with Satan.<sup>150</sup>
- Obama on his putative presidency:
And this was all the Harvest that I reap'd –
"I came like Water, and like wind fart I go."<sup>151</sup>

There was the Door to which I found no legal Key;
There was the Veil through which I did not want to see.
Some little talk awhile of Me and Thee
There was – and then no more of Thee and Me.<sup>152</sup>

"While you live,
Drink!-for, once dead, you never shall return."<sup>153</sup>

'Tis all a Checkerboard of Nights and Days
Where Destiny with Men for Pieces plays:
Hither and thither moves, and mates, and slays,
And one by one back in the satanic Closet lays.<sup>154</sup>

Striking from the Calendar
Unborn Tomorrow and dead Yesterday.<sup>155</sup>

Satan is the Potter, pray, and Americans the Pot.<sup>156</sup>
- On the revenge of American Patriots against Obama:
Indeed the American Idols I have hated so long

30. Oliver Wendell Holmes (1809-1894)

Oliver Wendell Holmes, Sr. was an American physician, poet, professor, lecturer, and author. His most famous prose works are the Breakfast-Table series, which began with The Autocrat of the Breakfast-Table (1858). He was also an important medical reformer.

- Obama on America: Ay, tear her tattered ensign down!
Long has it waved on high,
And many an eye has danced to see
That banner in the sky;
Beneath it rung the battle shout,
And burst the cannon's roar –
The meteor of the ocean air
Shall sweep the clouds no more.<sup>165</sup>

- Advice to American Patriots: I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving: To reach the port of heaven, we must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it – but we must sail, and not drift, nor lie at anchor.<sup>166</sup>

- On Obama's speeches: Sin has many tools, but a lie is the handle which fits them all.<sup>167</sup>

The closing to this edition is short. Because of Barack Hussein Obama's existence ... take every opportunity to criticize and ridicule him and his regime.
