RENOWNED, HISTORICAL VOICES
COMMENT ON BARACK HUSSEIN OBAMA
ISSUE NUMBER NINE

There are twenty-six Renowned, Historical Voices in this issue who comment on Barack Hussein Obama. Enjoy what they have to say and communicate their opinions to other American Patriots.

1. Giordano Bruno (1548-1600)

Giordano Bruno (Filippo Bruno), also called il Nolano because he was born in Nola, Italy, was an Italian astronomer, occultist, philosopher, satirist, mystic, and martyr. He was burned at the stake as a heretic.

- Advice to American Patriots: Time takes all and gives all.¹
- On Obama's character: There is in Obama neither center nor circumference.²

2. Charles IX (1550-1574)

Charles IX was King of France from 1560 until his death. His reign was dominated by the Wars of Religion between the French Roman Catholics and the Protestant Huguenots (1562-1698) Charles IX was king at the time of the St. Bartholomew's

² On the Infinite Universe and Worlds (1584), introductory epistle. The original statement is: There is in the universe neither center nor circumference.

Day Massacre (1572), which was a concerted group of assassinations and Roman Catholic mob violence against the French (Calvinist) Huguenots.

- On Michelle's appetite: Horses and poets should be fed, not overfed.³

3. Sir Edward Coke (1552-1634)

Sir Edward Coke, English barrister, judge and politician, was the outstanding jurist of the Elizabethan and Jacobean eras. Educated at Trinity College, Cambridge and study at the Inner Temple, he was called to the Bar on April 20, 1578. As a barrister he took part in several notable cases. As a member of parliament he served first as Solicitor General and then as Speaker of the House of Commons, eventually being promoted to Attorney General. He was the prosecutor in the Robert Devereux, Sir Walter Raleigh cases, and the Gunpowder Plot conspirators. For his service he was knighted, and then made Chief Justice of the Common Pleas.

- On what Obama does not know about law: Reason is the life of the law; nay, the common law itself is nothing else but reason. ... The law, which is perfection of reason.⁴
- On the American Constitution: The gladsome light of jurisprudence.⁵
- The essence of private property in a free society: For a man's house is his castle, et domus sua cuique tutissimum refugium.⁶ The house of everyone is to him as his castle and fortress, as well for his defense against injury and violence as for his repose.⁷ They [corporations] cannot commit treason, nor be outlawed nor excommunicated, for they have no souls.⁸

³ Saying attributed to Charles IX.

⁴ First Institute (1628).

⁵ Ibid. epilogue.

⁶ Third institute. Although the Latin phrase is not posed as a question, the best translation is: Where shall a man be safe if it be not in his own house?

⁷ Semayne's Case, 5 Report 91.

- *On the American Constitution: That Magna Carta is such a fellow that he will have no sovereign, except We the People.*⁹
- *On Obama's daily schedule: Six hours in sleep, watching sports on television six, four spend in Muslim prayer, the rest on the golf course.*¹⁰

4. Sir Walter Raleigh (c. 1552-1618)

Sir Walter Raleigh was multi-talented as an English aristocrat, courtier, explorer, soldier, spy, writer, and poet. He made tobacco popular in England and its Colonies. Although the accusation was based on hearsay, Sir Walter Raleigh was tried for treason against King James I of England. He was beheaded on October 29, 1618. Engraved in the lid of his tobacco box was the Latin inscription: Comes meus fuit illo miserrimo tempo (It was my companion at that most miserable time).

- Obama sonnets to his body servants:

Like to a hermit poor in place obscure,
I mean to spend my days of endless doubt,
To wail such woes as time cannot recure,
Where none but Love shall ever find me out.¹¹

As you came from the Holy Land
Of Walsinghame,
Met you not with my true Love
By the way as you came?¹²

⁸ Case of Sutton's Hospital. 10 Report 32.

⁹ Debate in the Commons, May 17, 1628.

¹⁰ Translation quoted by COKE. From the Pandects (Digest of Justinian). De in lus Vocando. The original is: Six hours in sleep, in law's grave study six, four spend in prayer, the rest on Nature fix.

¹¹ The Phoenix Nest (1593):

But true Love is a durable fire,
In the mind ever burning,
Never sick, never old, never dead,
From itself never turning¹³
If all the world and Love were young,
And truth in every shepherd's tongue,
These pretty pleasures might me move
To live with thee, and be thy love.¹⁴

- Obama to Reggie Love: Our passions are most like to floods and streams,
The shallow murmur, but the deep are dumb.¹⁵

- On why Obama does not like the truth:
Whosoever, in ... modern history, shall follow truth too near the heels, it may haply strikeout his teeth.¹⁶

- Elegy for Obama: O eloquent, just, and mighty Death! whom none could advise, thou hast persuaded; what none hath dared, thou hast done; and whom all the world hath flattered, thou only hast cast out of the world and despised. Thou hast drawn together all the far-stretched greatness, all the pride, cruelty, and ambition of man, and covered it all over with these ...

...narrow words, Hic jacet!

*(The worst president in the history of the world!)*¹⁷

- Obama mulling over his earthly demise:

Even such is time, that takes in trust

Our youth, our joys, our all we have,

And pays us but with age and dust;

Who in the dark and silent grave,

When we have wandered all our ways'

Shuts up the story of our days.

And from which earth, and grave, and dust,

The Devil shall raise me up, I trust.¹⁸

5. Edmund Spenser (1552-1599)

Edmund Spenser, an English poet, is most famous for The Faerie Queene, an epic poem and fantastical allegory. It celebrates Elisabeth I and the Tudor dynasty. During his age English poetry was in its birth pangs. It is to craftsman Edmund Spenser that English poetry became an internationally respected genre. He is one of the greatest poets in the English language.

- Warning to Obama: To kirk the nearer, from God more far, / Has been an old-said saw. / And he that strives to touch the stars, / Oft stumbles at a straw.¹⁹

¹⁷ Ibid. book V, part 1, chapter 6, conclusion.

¹⁸ A version of an earlier poem found upon his death in his Bible in the Gatehouse at Westminster.

- Obama's sense of righteousness: Fierce wars and faithful body servant loves shall moralize my song.²⁰

- *Obama on Satan recruiting him: A gentle knight was pricking on the plain.*²¹

- *Estimation of Obama: A bold bad man.*²²

- Obama on Reggie Love: His angel's face / As the great eye of heaven shined bright, / And made a sunshine in the shady place.²³

- *On American Liberty: Her birth was of the womb of morning dew.*²⁴

- Obama poem to his body servants:

Roses red and violets blue,

And all the sweetest flowers, that in the forest grew²⁵

All that in this delightful garden grows

Should happy be, and have immortal bliss.²⁶

And painful pleasure turns to pleasing pain.²⁷

³⁰ Ibid. Book VI, canto 1, stanza 42.

- Just a thought which Obama will never think about:

The gentle mind by gentle deeds is known.

For a man by nothing is so well bewrayed,

As by his manners.³¹

- Obama on where to go for happiness: That here on earth is no sure happiness.

*I think I'll go to hell!*³²

- On Change: The ever-whirling Wheel Of Change; which all moral things doth sway.³³

- On Obama's use of Saul Alinsky tactics: Wars and alarums unto nations wide.³⁴

- Change under Obama: But times do change and move continually. *Backwards.*³⁵

- Obama has no noble deeds, thoughts, or wise words. He is a zilch!:

For deeds do die, however nobly done,

And thoughts of men do as themselves decay,

But wise words taught in numbers for to run,

Recorded by the Muses, live for ay.³⁶

Full little knowest thou that hast not tried,

What hell it is, in suing long to bide:

To lose good days, that might be better spent;

To waste long nights in pensive discontent;

³¹ Ibid. Book VI, 3, stanza 1.

³² Ibid. 11, stanza 1.

³³ Ibid. Book VII, 6, stanza 1.

³⁴ Ibid. Stanza 3.

³⁵ Ibid. stanza 47.

³⁶ The Ruines of Time, line 400.

To speed today, to be put back tomorrow;
 To feed on hope, to pine with fear and sorrow.³⁷
 To fret thy soul with crosses and with cares;
 To eat thy heart through comfortless despairs;
 To fawn, to crouch, to wait, to ride, to run,
 To spend, to give, to want, to be undone.
 Unhappy wight, born to disastrous end,
 That doth his life in so long tendance spend.³⁸

- On what awaits American Patriots: What more felicity can fall to creature,
 Than to enjoy delight with liberty.³⁹
- Michelle on why she likes the night: I hate the day, because it lendeth light
 To see all things, and not my (secret service) love to see.⁴⁰
- On Obama's passing: Death slew not him, but he made death his ladder to Hades.⁴¹
- Last words of Obama: Though last and least.⁴²
- Obama's advice to Michelle on how to make love: (T)he joyous time will not be stayed / Unlesse you do him by the forelock take.⁴³

⁴² Colin Clouts Come Home Again, line 144.

⁴³ Amoretti, Sonnet 70.

- Obama's thought after a long day on the golf course: Ah! when will this long weary day have end, And lend me leave to come unto my Reggie (L)ove?⁴⁴

- A sign that Barry and Michelle are filled with evil:

For of the soul the body form doth take:

For soul is form, and doth the body make.⁴⁵

- An ironic statement on Obama's bullying:

For all that fair is, is by nature good;

That is a sign to know the gentle blood.⁴⁶

- Obama's wish: Sweet Rivers of Hades! run softly, till I end my Song.⁴⁷

6. John Florio (c. 1553-1625)

John Florio, Giovanni Florio, was an Italian linguist and lexicographer, and a royal language tutor at the Court of James I. It is possible that he had friendship with William Shakespeare. He is known as the translator of Montaigne into English.

- America under Obama: America is the paradise of women (wanting abortions)

the purgatory of American Patriots, and the hell of freedom-lovers.⁴⁸

7. Henri IV [Henry of Navarre] (1553-1610)

Henry IV – the French say Henri-Quatre – the first monarch of the Bourbon branch of the Capetian Dynasty in France, was King of Navarre (1572 to 1610) and King of ⁴⁵ Hymn in Honor of Beauty, line 132.

⁴⁶ Ibid. line 139.

⁴⁷ Prothalamion, refrain. The original has Sweet Thames instead of Sweet Rivers of Hades. There are five rivers in Hades: Acheron (the river of sorrow), Cocytus (the river of lamentation), Lethe (the river of forgetfulness), Phlegethon (the river of fire), and Styx (the river of hate).

⁴⁸ Second Frutes. The original is England is the paradise of women; the purgatory of men, and the hell of horses.

France (1589 to 1610). Baptised Catholic, he and his mother Jeanne d'Albret, Queen of Navarre converted to Protestantism. Upon his mother's death he inherited the throne of Navarre. As a Huguenot, Henry was involved in the Wars of Religion. He barely escaped the St. Bartholomew's Day massacre. Later, he led Protestant forces against the Catholic French Royal Army.

- *Obama's wish for the Middle Class: I want there to be no peasant in my realm so poor that he will not have a chicken in his pot every Sunday.*⁴⁹
- *On Obama's final goal: Washington, DC is well worth being a caliphate.*⁵⁰
- *American Patriots' message to Obama: Hang yourself, brave Obama; we fought for America and you were not there.*⁵¹
- *On Saul Alinsky: The wisest fool in Christendom.*⁵²

8. George Keith, Fifth Earl Marischal (c. 1553-1623)

George Keith, 5th Earl Marischal, was a Scottish nobleman and Earl Marischal (1581-1623), upon the death of his grandfather, William Keith, 4th Earl Marischal. He was one of the most important and powerful men in Scotland. He founded the Marischal College in Aberdeen in 1593, a protestant college as a counter institute to the Roman Catholic King's College in Old Aberdeen. It was George Keith who as ambassador to Denmark in 1589 arranged the marriage of King James VI of Scotland to Anne of Denmark. Keith was also Royal commissioner to the Parliament of Scotland in 1609.

- *Obama's lisping motto: Thai half thaid. Quhat thay thai? Let thame thay.*⁵³

9. Fulke Greville, Lord Brooke (1554-1628)

Fulke Greville, 1st Baron Brooke, de jure 13th Baron Latimer, and 5th Baron Willoughby de Broke, was known before 1621 as Sir Fulke Greville. He was an Elizabethan dramatist, statesman, and poet. From 1581 to 1621 he was a sporadic member of the House of Commons. In 1621 he received peerage, was made Baron Brooke, peer of the realm, and granted Warwick Castle. Greville served Elizabeth I and James I in the successive positions of Treasurer of the Navy, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Commissioner of the Treasury. Today, Greville is best known as the biographer of Sir Philip Sidney. His poetry is extremely sober, presenting dark, thoughtful and distinctly Calvinist views on art, beauty, literature, and a variety of philosophical matters.

- On Socialism-Communism: Oh wearisome condition of humanity!

Born under one law, to another bound.⁵⁴

10. Richard Hooker (c.1554-1600)

Richard Hooker was an Anglican priest and an influential theologian. He placed emphasis on reason, tolerance, and the value of tradition. His views greatly influenced the Church of England. With Thomas Cranmer and Matthew Parker he is considered a founder of theological Anglicanism.

- On law: Of Law there can be no less acknowledged than that her seat is the bosom of God, her voice the harmony of the world. All things in heaven and earth do her homage – the very least as feeling her care, and the greatest as not exempted from her power.⁵⁵
- On the Obama dictatorship: That to live by one man's will became the cause of all men's misery.⁵⁶

12. Sir Philip Sidney (1554- 1586)

Sir Philip Sidney was an English courtier, soldier, and poet. He was one of the most prominent figures of the Elizabethan Age. His most famous works are Astrophel and Stella, The Defence of Poetry (also known as The Defence of Poesy or An Apology for Poetry), and The Countess of Pembroke's Arcadia.

- *On why Obama is alone: High-erected thoughts seated in the heart of courtesy.*⁷⁰

They are never alone that are accompanied with noble thoughts.⁷¹

- An Obama sonnet to his body servant:

My dear, my better half.

My true-love hath my heart and I have his,

By just exchange one for the other given:

I hold his dear, and mine he cannot miss,

There never was a better bargain driven.⁷²

Leave me, O Love, which reachest but to dust,

And thou, my mind, aspire to higher things;

⁶⁷ Ibid. v, i. The original is: How at heaven's gate she claps her wings, / The morn not waking till she sings.

⁶⁸ Maides Metamorphosis, iii, 1.

⁶⁹ Mother Bombie, 1590, Act iv, scene 1.

⁷⁰ The Arcadia, Book 1.

⁷¹ Ibid.

⁷² Ibid. Sonnet.

Grow rich in that which never taketh rust:

Whatever fades, but fading pleasure brings.⁷³

- Obama on Reggie leaving him: Ring out your bells! Let mourning shows be spread! For Love is dead.⁷⁴
- Obama on writing his autobiography: "Fool!" said my muse to me, "Look in thy heart, and write."⁷⁵ So I asked William Ayers to do it for me.

13. François de Malherbe (1555-1628)

François de Malherbe, French poet, critic, and translator, was the eldest son of another François de Malherbe, conseiller du roi in the magistracy of Caen. François de Malherbe received his education at Caen, Paris, Heidelberg, and Basel. At the age of twenty-one he entered the household of Henri d'Angoulême, the illegitimate son of Henry II, governor of Provence. He served him as secretary in Provence, and married there in 1581. He lived partly in Provence and partly in Normandy for many years after the death of Henri d'Angoulême. Very little is known of his life during this period. His work Larmes de Saint Pierre (1587) is an imitation of Luigi Tansillo.

- On Michelle's longevity: And a rose, she lived as roses do, the space of a morn.⁷⁶
- On the results of Obama's policies: And the foul fruits will outdo what the flowers have promised.⁷⁷
- Why American Patriots should not worry: What Obama curses will endure forever.⁷⁸

⁷³ Ibid. Sonnet.

⁷⁴ Ibid. Song.

14. George Peele (1556-1596)

George Peele was an English dramatist. Probably his best recognized works are the pastoral comedy of The Araynement of Paris, as well as Famous Chronicle of King Edward the first, surnamed Edward Longshankes, with his returne from the holy land. Also the life of Lleuellen, rebell in Wales. Lastly, the sinking of Queen Elinor, who suncke at Charingcrosse, and rose again at Pottershith, now named Queenehith, The Battell of Alcazar, which is full of gore, and The Love of King David and fair Bethsabe. Among his more famous poems are The Honour of the Garter, Polyhymnia, Phoenix Nest, and The Praise of Chastity. The Old Wives Tale with its background of rustic folklore is a play within a play,

- Obama on a body servant: Fair and fair, and twice so fair,

As fair as any may be.⁷⁹

15. George Chapman (c.1559-1634)

George Chapman, English dramatist and poet, was a renowned classical scholar of his age. Chapman has been called the rival poet of Shakespeare's sonnets. Being influenced by stoicism, he anticipated the Metaphysical Poets of the 17th century. Chapman is best remembered as the translator of Homer's Iliad and Odyssey, and the Homeric Batrachomyomachia, a comic parody of the Iliad.

- On why Obama cannot keep his promises: Promise is most given when the least is said.⁸⁰
- What obots don't understand: Young men think old men are fools; but old men know young men are fools.⁸¹
- On how government can have a positive economy: Keep thy shop, and thy shop

⁸⁶ Memoirs. The original is: The English take their pleasure sadly after the fashion of their country.

Greene published in many genres including an autobiography, plays, and romances, His fame also rested on a scandalous reputation.

- On an upstart Obama: For there is an upstart crow beautified with our feathers, that with his tiger's heart wrapped in a player's hide, supposes he is as well able to bombast out a blank speech as the best of you; and being an absolute Johannes fac totum, is in his own conceit the only Shake-scene in a country.⁸⁷
- Obama and golfing and politics: Hangs in the uncertain balance of proud time.⁸⁸
- American politics under Obama: Hell's broken loose.⁸⁹

18. Francis Bacon (1561-1626)

Francis Bacon, 1st Viscount St Alban(s), an English philosopher, statesman, scientist, jurist, and author, served as Attorney General and Lord Chancellor of England. After his political career ended in disgrace, he turned to science and his works, especially in philosophy and scientific method, greatly influenced the scientific revolution.

Bacon can be seen as the creator of empiricism because he established the Baconian Method, inductive methodologies for scientific inquiry. He demanded that scientists plan a thorough procedure when investigating all matters. In 1603, Bacon was knighted and created both the Baron Verulam in 1618, and the Viscount St Alban in 1621. He died without heirs and thus both peerages became extinct upon his death. The cause of his death was pneumonia, which he received while studying freezing and the preservation of meat.

- Obama on his own genius: I have taken all knowledge to be my province.⁹⁰
- Advice to Obama: The monuments of wit survive the monuments of power.⁹¹

⁹⁰ Letter to Lord Burleigh, 1592.

- Nam et ipsa scientia potestas est (Knowledge is power), Obama uses it as evil.⁹²
- Obama is doomed to failure because he is narcissistically certain of himself: If a man will begin with certainties, he shall end in doubts; but if he will be content to begin with doubts he shall end in certainties.⁹³
- On the opposite of Obama's evil: Knowledge is a rich storehouse for the glory of the Creator and the relief of man's estate.⁹⁴
- Obama's politics are not praiseworthy: Politics was ever thought to have some participation of divineness, because it doth raise and erect the mind by submitting the shows of things to the desires of the mind.⁹⁵
- On Obama's non-reality: But men must know that in this theater of man's life it is reserved only for God and angels to be lookers on.⁹⁶
- Truthful reality under Obama: There are and can be only two ways of searching into and discovering truth. The one flies from the senses and particulars to the most general axioms. ... This way is now in fashion. The other derives axioms from the senses and particulars, rising by a gradual and unbroken ascent, so that it arrives at the most general axioms last of all. This is the true way, but as yet untried.⁹⁷
- On Obama being classy: There are four classes of Idols which beset men's minds. To these for distinction's sake I have assigned names – calling the first class, Idols of the Tribe; the second, Idols of the Cave; the third, Idols of the Market Place; the fourth, Idols of the Theater.⁹⁸

- Obama to the press on being defeated in November: I do plainly and ingenuously confess that I am guilty of corruption, and do renounce all defense. I beseech Americans to be merciful to a broken reed.⁹⁹
- Obama on playing golf: Lucid intervals and happy pauses.¹⁰⁰
- On Obama's hope: Hope is a good breakfast, but it is a bad supper.¹⁰¹
- On Michelle's beauty: Like strawberry wives, that laid two or three great strawberries at the mouth of their pot, and all the rest were little ones.¹⁰²
- Obama on throwing people under the bus: We read that we ought to forgive our enemies; but we do not read that we ought to forgive our friends.¹⁰³
- Obama on truth: What is truth? asked jesting Obama, and would not stay for an answer.¹⁰⁴
- What Obama does not understand: No pleasure is comparable to the standing upon the vantage-ground of truth.¹⁰⁵
- On the Obamas' prosperity: Prosperity doth best discover vice.¹⁰⁶
- On Michelle's future: 'Wives are young men's mistresses, companions for middle age, and old men's nurses.'¹⁰⁷

19. Sir John Harington (1561-1612)

Sir John Harington (Harrington) was an author and courtier, as well as a master of art. It is to him that we owe the invention of the flush toilet. A member of Queen Elizabeth I's court, he was called her 'saucy Godson'.

His most famous work is a political allegory, A New Discourse of a Stale Subject, called the Metamorphosis of Ajax (1596). In it he attacks the stercus (excrement) of social poison and torture as well a libel that his relatives Thomas Markham and Ralph Sheldon had experienced. In his New Discourse he described a forerunner to the modern flush toilet that was installed at his house at Kelston. His most famous political epigram is below.

- Treason under Obama: Treason doth never prosper: What's the reason? For if it prosper, none dare call it treason.¹¹⁴

20. Robert Southwell (c.1551-1595)

Robert Southwell (Saint Robert Southwell), poet and clandestine missionary in post-Reformation England, was an English Roman Catholic Jesuit priest. He was arrested and tortured by Sir Richard Topcliffe, tried and convicted of high treason for his links to the Papacy. Southwell was hanged, drawn and quartered at Tyburn on February 20, 1595. He was canonized by Pope Paul VI as one of the Forty Martyrs of England and Wales in 1970.

21. Samuel Daniel (c. 1562-1619)

Samuel Daniel was an English poet and historian. As a poet, he is mostly famous for his sonnets, which are different from the Italian sonnet form because they close with a couplet. The Complaint of Rosamond, is a soliloquy full of pathos that concerns the ghost of the murdered Rosamund bewailing her fate.

Additionally, some of his best stanzas are in Epistles to Distinguished Persons. Samuel Daniel is also regarded as the first poet to introduce terza rima (interlocking three-line rhyme scheme) into English poetry. The epistle to Lucy, Countess of Bedford, contains this rhyme scheme. His best dramatic work is Hymen's Triumph.

¹¹⁴ Epigrams, Of Treason.

¹¹⁵ Times Go by Turns, stanza 1.

Daniel was a great verse innovator. His style is musical, but not splendid, easy and not stately. It is possible that he authored the anonymous play The Maid's Metamorphosis (1600)

22. Michael Drayton (1563-1631)

Michael Drayton was a prominent English poet in the Elizabethan era. He was the first English poet who wrote odes in the style of Horace. His most famous writings are The Harmonie of the Church, Idea, The Shepherds Garland, Ideas Mirrour, Endimion and Phoebe, the historical heroic poem Robert, Duke of Normandy, and Mortimeriados. Of enduring quality is Englands Heroicall Epistles, a series of (fiction) letters between famous lovers throughout English history.

- Obama's love poem to his body servant Reggie Love:

Since there's no help, come let us kiss and part-

Nay, I have done: you get no more of me,

And I am glad, yea glad with all my heart,

That thus so cleanly I myself can free.

Shake hands forever, cancel all our vows,

And when we meet at any time again,

Be it not seen in either of our brows

That we one jot of former love retain.¹¹⁷

23. Galileo Galilei (1554-1642)

Galileo Galilei was an Italian astronomer, mathematician, physicist, and philosopher considered the leader in the European Scientific Revolution. He is regarded as the father of modern observational astronomy, the father of modern physics, the father of science and the father of modern science. He improved the telescope which allowed him to make consequential astronomical observations and give support for the Copernican theory of the revolution of heavenly bodies. He confirmed the phases of Venus, discovered the four largest satellites of Jupiter (They are called the Galilean moons in his honour), and observed and analyzed sunspots. Galileo also worked in applied science and technology, inventing an improved military compass and other instruments.

Galileo's views and support of the theories of heliocentrism caused an investigation by the Roman Inquisition in 1615, the result of which said that that it could only be a possibility and not established fact. Galileo's defense appeared in Dialogue Concerning the Two Chief World Systems. The Inquisition tried him and he was found guilty for heresy. He was forced to recant. He spent the rest of his life under house arrest. It was at this time that he wrote Two New Sciences that are now called kinematics and strength of materials.

- A non-political statement of truth: Philosophy is written in this grand book – I mean the universe – which stands continually open to our gaze, but it cannot be understood unless one first learns to comprehend the language and interpret the characters in which it is written. It is written in the language of mathematics, and its characters are triangles, circles, and other geometrical figures, without which it is humanly impossible to understand a single word of it; without these, one is wandering about in a dark labyrinth.¹¹⁹

24. Christopher Marlowe (1564-1593)

Christopher Marlowe, English dramatist, poet and translator during the Elizabethan era, was the most famous Elizabethan tragedian until his mysterious early death. He had a great influence on William Shakespeare, who became the eminent Elizabethan playwright upon Marlowe's death. Marlowe's plays have use of blank verse, and many protagonists.

Accused of blasphemy as the unproven author of a manuscript containing vile heretical conceipts (sic), warrant was issued for Marlowe's arrest on 18 May 1593. On 20 May he was brought before court and the Privy Council. Although there are no records that they met on that day, Marlowe was ordered to appear before them daily until "licensed to the contrary." After a period of ten days, he was stabbed to death by Ingram Frizer, an English businessman and confidence trickster.

26. William Shakespeare (1564-1616)

William Shakespeare, English poet and playwright, is considered to be the greatest writer in the English language and most probably the world's leading dramatist. As the Bard of Avon, he is England's national poet. His works that have survived are: 38 plays, 154 sonnets, two long narrative poems, and several other shorter poems.

Between 1585 and 1592, he was a successful actor in London and the owner of the acting group the Lord Chamberlain's Men, later King's Men. At about 1613, he retired to live in Stratford-on-Avon. Shakespeare produced most of his known work between 1589 and 1613. The early plays are mainly comedies and histories. These were followed by tragedies such as Hamlet, King Lear, Othello, and Macbeth. His last phase saw the appearance of tragicomedies, also known as romances: Pericles, Prince of Tyre; Cymbeline; The Winter's Tale; and The Tempest.

Issue Number Nine of Renowned, Historical Voices Comment On Barack Hussein Obama ends with applied statements from England's great bard, William Shakespeare. There are only two works quoted: King Henry the Sixth and King Henry the Eighth. Shakespeare's writings are so prolific that it would be an impossibility to scan all that he wrote and pick out the respective, important statements and convey to the reader of this series how they apply to Barack Hussein Obama and his minions. Indeed, although this author is quite knowledgeable of what Shakespeare authored and the contents therein, except perhaps for a few sonnets, the selections would constitute the input for a book. This author's conclusion is that it would be too massive for the Renowned, Historical Voices ... series at The Obama Timeline. Therefore, future editions will not include any selections from William Shakespeare. These two sources in Issue Number Nine were included because the author thought it necessary to allow the reader an insight into a few of Shakespeare's thoughts and how they can apply to Barack Hussein Obama and his circle of political evildoers.

There are only four months and one week before the November 2012 presidential elections. Spread the word about the evil that is Barack Hussein Obama and the negative future that is in store for the democratic republic that is The United States of America should he be re-elected for a second term as a dictator and usurper of public office.
